Missing Spy Figure Now Russ Citizen

Burgess-MacLean Case's '3rd Man' Philby Turns Up

MOSCOW (UPI) — H. A. R. Philby, the "third man" in Britain's Burgess-MacLean spy case a decade ago, has been granted Soviet citizenship and political asylum in Russia, the government newspaper Izvestia announced today.

Philby, a former British diplomat, intelligence agent and newspaperman, disappeared from Beirut, Lebanon, in late January, and his whereabouts were uncertain until the Izvestia disclosure.

The British government said at the beginning of this month that it was Philby who warned foreign office diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean that they were about to be picked up by British Secret Service agents as Soviet spies. The two then vanished, and later turned up in Moscow.

At the time he disappeared, Philby had been mideast correspondent for the London Sunday newspaper Observer and the magazine Economist.

The terse Izvestia report settling the location of the missing man, whose whereabouts have intrigued American and European security agents for months, said merely:

"The British subject Philby, who occupies a leading position in British intelligence, has applied to the Soviet authorities for political asylum and Soviet citizenship. It is learned that the USSR Supreme Soviet has complied with Philby's request."

The Izvestia report clashed with official British government reports to the House of Commons that Philby has had no access to official information since his resignation from the foreign service in 1951.

Izvestia said flatly that he was occupying a leading British security position when he defected.

The British government has admitted it recommended Philby for his Mideast correspondent's post after he left its service.

Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath told the House of Com-

ECONOMICAL PLAN

Simple Barrier Favored Over Reber Bay Plan

Chipps Island Dam Called More Feasible

By FRANK FARRARA

Fresh water barriers either at Chipps Island near Pittsburg or at Dillon Point midway in Carquinez Strait were pegged today as the most feasible of eight studies and tested at the San Francisco Bay Model in Sausalito.

This was the finding of the Army Corps of Engineers released in a press conference in Sausalito after an eight-year survey costing $3,845,000.

The report rejected any further consideration of the much-discussed Reber Plan, which would create two fresh water pools through a system of pumps and barriers at cost estimated by the Army Engineers at $2,965,000,000.

The Reber Plan was the most costly of all plans studied and would yield less fresh water yearly.

"In no concept does the Reber Plan appear feasible now or in the future," said Brig. Gen. Arthur H. Frye Jr., South Pacific Division engineer for the corps, at a press conference at the bay model.

Frye said the corps could not make definite recommendation on either the Chipps Island plan or the Dillon Point plan at this time.

The Chipps Island project would cost $194,400,000 and would provide an annual yield of 4,775,000 acre feet of fresh water at a cost of $2.44 per acre foot in the year 2020. The Reber plan would provide 1,380,000 acre feet a year at a cost of $80.17 an acre foot.

The Dillon Point barrier with ship locks, flood gates and fish-ladders would cost approximately $262,200,000.

General Frye said the final report on the Bay Study, to be released in October, 1964, will cover navigation and flood control in connection with the barriers.

Bay Area developments cannot be detached from other state water projects, the general warned. It is possible that the barrier plan would replace either the Delta water facilities plan or the peripheral canal plan.

SALT WATER

The major benefit of the proposed North Bay barriers is conservation of water which otherwise would be released from storage reservoirs to prevent salt water intrusion, the report said.

"All North Bay barriers would be detrimental to navigation because of time lost in passing through locks, and in varying degrees to fish and wildlife; would have but negligible effect on flood control, would be of little or no value for land transportation and would create problems in the public health field," it declared.

The Chipps Island proposal is for construction of a salt-water barrier with ship locks, flood gates and fishladders, midway between Pittsburg and the Sacramento River entrance to Suisun Bay.

THREE BODIES

The Reber Plan would divide San Francisco Bay into three separate bodies of water, making 85 per cent of the bay a fresh-water reservoir. There would be a lower pool impounded by a 2,000 foot barrier from San Francisco to Oakland. The upper pool would be formed by a barrier across San Pablo Strait, running parallel to the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, about 1,800 feet south of the bridge.

The barriers would be connected at their eastern ends by a land fill extending from Oakland to Richmond with provision for a deep-water ship channel.

One advantage of the Reber Plan, noted in the report, is that it would bring a net return of $7,961,000 through reclaim-

FOUR NORTH KOREANS ARE KILLED

Found By Yanks Six Miles Inside South Territory

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U.S. Army patrols and South Korean national police hunted down and killed four North Korean soldiers today six miles south of the demilitarized zone.

An American soldier and a South Korean police officer also lost their lives in the grassy river bottomland south of the Imjin River near Dangdong-iri.

Col. George Creel, the U.N. Command spokesman who confirmed the four North Koreans were dead, said they could be part of the same raiding patrol which machine-gunned a First Cavalry Division jeep yesterday, killing two U.S. soldiers and wounding another on their way to guard duty in the demilitarized zone.

There also was speculation the four North Koreans killed today were agents bound on a mission of violent espionage. They carried automatic weapons and hand grenades.

The first North Koreans were gunned down about 9 a.m. It was in this clash that a soldier of the U.S. Seventh Infantry Division and the Korean police officer died.

At about 4 p.m., the other two North Koreans were surrounded in deep grass west of the road to Panmunjom and about a mile south of Freedom Bridge.

While an American Army helicopter hovered overhead, about 50 national policemen and half a dozen U.S. soldiers closed in. Two hand grenade explosions were heard, leading to speculation the agents took their own lives.

The North Koreans were hunted down 400 yards from the headquarters of the Fourth Cavalry Regiment command post, which may have been their objective.

Scholl Says County Pays Wrong Bills

Emergency Aid At Hospital 'Costs $5,000'

County Medical Director Michael E. Scholl told the Marin County Board of Supervisors today that the county is paying emergency hospital bills for people with jobs and ability to pay for themselves, including prominent doctors and lawyers.

County Revenue Officer Mark Falcone promptly backed this with a statement that the situation is costing the county more than $5,000 a year.

"Study of 1,000 out-patient billings for 1961 showed that in 75 instances the patients were covered by insurance, but the county paid because the hospital didn't take the time to submit applications," said Falcone.

PAID BILLS

"The county has paid bills for a lot of prominent people, including doctors and lawyers who sent their children in and the county picked up the tab."

Scholl's letter said a review of claims against the county for emergency room charges at a local hospital "shows that all charges unpaid by patients after 90 days are turned over to the county for payment." His review of the emergency room charts disclosed, said School, that "the majority of these patients are employed persons and therefore should not be considered indigent."

SEEKS REVIEW

Scholl suggested a revision of the board's policy as adopted last year. Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said that before leaving on vacation, Administrator Alan Bruce had reviewed the matter and found new policy should be adopted, suggesting there be a "finding of indigency" before the county assumed responsibility.

Supervisors expressed concern but postponed action until next Tuesday so County Counsel E. Warren McGuire might go over legal aspects.

Agreement On City Hall Land Reached

Agreement with owners on prices for two remaining parcels of Fifth Avenue property sought for a new San Rafael City Hall site was announced today by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen.

Price of all three parcels extending from Fifth to Mission avenues and from the city library to C Street will total $19,250 more than the estimate by Ebasco Services in its city hall recommendation of over a year ago, Anderson noted.

He reported he had polled city council members individually and had been given approval to have the city attorney draw up legal papers for the site purchase, to be presented at next Monday night's council meeting.

Also needed will be a $37,500 emergency appropriation, however, as the price of the two properties exceeds by that much the amount included for the purpose in the 1963-64 budget.

Andersen reported agreement with Mrs. Marie Robinson for the city to purchase her property, directly east of the library, at $161,000, and with Dr. Leo L. Stanley for purchase of his property, between the Robinson holding and the Dr. Frank Howard parcel pur-

Tiburon Unit Won't Budge On Boundaries

Proponents of the incorporation of Tiburon lost little time yesterday in telling the Marin County Boundary Commission they have no intention of altering the boundaries of the proposed city.

The commission yesterday morning recommended to the incorporation petitioners that a strip of land including Paradise Cay and adjoining properties be included within the proposed boundaries so that all "areas of common interest" would be within tidy bounds.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the Tiburon Incorporation Committee, submitted a reply late yesterday afternoon that "we respectfully decline to accept" the recommendation.

He said the proponents found the proposed change unacceptable because "the boundaries as submitted were prepared to give the greatest assurance that the incorporation movement will be successful."

He added, "Interests of the Tiburon community make incorporation at this time so imperative that the delay and possible confusion which might arise from a revision of the boundaries at this time is inadvisable."

Jordan filed the answer when the commission reconvened late yesterday to approve a resolution outlining the recommended change, as drawn up by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire.

"The dictates of political life make it necessary for us to decline the commission's request," Jordan said. He said the unincorporated area was held largely by persons who have indicated they will not approve incorporation.

Chairman William D. Fusselman said he did not want to block any move for incorporation but questioned the wisdom of excluding an area which might provide a large tax base for a future city.

"We went through this with Novato," he said. "Novato did not find things as rosy as the petitioners said . . . it's a nice city, no better or worse than if it were unincorporated, but it seems to be a mistake to leave out any land of value and do without services which the city might otherwise provide."

The commission's recommendations for proposed boundaries, and the reply from incorporation proponents, were to be submitted together to the board of supervisors.

Fusselman Elected As Chairman Of Supervisor Board

William D. Fusselman was today elected chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors until the end of this year, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss in a new position of vice-chairman.

With Byron W. Leydecker of San Rafael seated for the first time as successor to the late late chairman Walter R. Castro, the board acted promptly to regularize a situation in which Fusselman has been acting chairman since Feb. 26, the date of the first meeting held after Castro suffered a heart attack on Feb. 22.

Equalization Hearings End Is Requested

County Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell asked Marin supervisors today to complete their equalization hearings by Aug. 7 to save him from possible $1,000 fine by the state.

In a letter to the board, backed by a county counsel opinion that no extension of time has been allowed by the state, Mitchell said it is a statutory obligation of his office to transmit assessed valuation of the county to the state controller and failure to do so would place him in "the very awkward position of being subject to a penalty."

Mitchell added that he is getting numerous requests from the more than 100 city and special district entities whose budgets are held up by lack of the assessment total.

Chairman William D. Fusselman, who has repeatedly said the board has plenty of time, flared up and declared "this is uncalled for," further telling Mitchell that "you are a bit overanxious" and expressing resentment that he had asked advice from county counsel.

"The law does not grant an extension so I am at the tail end of the totem pole," Mitchell replied.

Supervisor Peter Behr promptly went to Mitchell's defense. "It is our duty to close the roll on time and not put our auditor on the spot," he said. "I don't believe, moreover, that the auditor should be criticized by this board. He has his duties too."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato put in that "the great majority of the protests are from my district and I believe we can complete my list this week."

PG&E's Comic Books Assailed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Critics said yesterday Pacific Gas and Electric Co. customers might enjoy lower rates if the company didn't supply colored comic books and films to schools and other organizations.

But, William S. Hynes, manager of the company's public activities department, testified at a California Public Utilities Commission hearing that these are public services and do not contribute to higher rates.

He conceded that the company supplies such comic books as "Porky Pig's Fun Book" and "The Mighty Atom" and also has a file of films available for public showing.

Carl Shapiro of Fairfax, attorney for a group headed by Richard C. Miller, asked particularly about a film entitled "The Big Truth" portraying the work of Radio Free Europe and demanded:

"Aren't a lot of your films controversial with nothing to do with the PG&E's functions?"

Hynes contended the film was in the public service.

Ward Vice Trial Nears End

LONDON (UPI)—Justice Sir Archie Marshall today told the jury considering morals charges against Dr. Stephen Ward that the impression had gone around the world Britain was "a sink of iniquity."

"We are now reaching the last stages of a trial that probably has achieved greater notoriety than any trial in recent years," he said in his charge to the jury after the prosecution had concluded its summation.

Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones charged in his summation today that Dr. Ward introduced Christine Keeler and her friend, Marilyn Rice-Davies, 18, to Viscount Astor and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. as part of his plan for augmenting his income.

Legislative Conferees Near Budget Accord

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly-Senate conferees, by official account, neared an accord today on the pesky problem of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's supplemental budget.

Ending daylong negotiations late last night, the six-man committee reported it held high hopes of working out a settlement today.

"We are extremely close to an agreement," said Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

MATERIAL PROGRESS

"We're still talking and I think we've made material progress," said Acting Chairman Stephen P. Teale (D-Calaveras) of the Senate Finance Committee.

The three assemblymen and three senators have been meeting off and on since last Friday in an effort to reconcile a 10-million-dollar difference in their rival proposals.

The governor asked for 114 million dollars to add to the 3.14-billion-dollar budget enacted in June. The Assembly agreed to 95 million dollars, the Senate to 85 million dollars

Crown said he didn't find it necessary to demand an immediate vote by the conference group when it began talks last night behind closed doors.

SPECIAL SESSION

He told the Assembly he would move for an immediate showdown after Republican spokesmen indicated they would seek adjournment of the overtime special session which began July 8.

Republican Caucus Chairman Don Mulford of Piedmont said his minority faction was getting inpatient over the delay in ironing out the budget dispute.

He noted that Governor Brown has gone off to Europe on a vacation trip and that it struck him as very unfair to keep the Assembly marking time if the Senate was unwilling to bargain in good faith.

Crown assured him that the Senate conferees showed every sign of trying to work something out.

No Prelude To Summit Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed strong doubt today that Secretary of State Dean Rusk's forthcoming talks in Moscow will become a prelude to a summit conference.

They said Rusk will carry a letter from President John F. Kennedy to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but it is expected to be only a reply to the message Khrushchev sent to Kennedy via Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Khrushchev's letter, high ranking sources said, expressed his satisfaction with the agreement to ban all nuclear tests except underground but did not offer any suggestions on further steps to ease East-West tensions.

Kennedy's reply is expected to express similar feelings without attempting to break new ground.

State Department officials denied any thought is being given to a meeting between Kennedy, Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain.

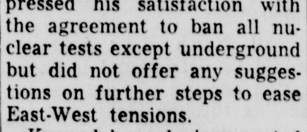

That possibility was mentioned by a Lord Hailsham, British negotiator at the test ban treaty talks in Moscow.

Officials here pointed to Kennedy's remark at a press conference July 17 that "there is no evidence that a summit is indicated or needed."

Also, U.S. officials don't believe Khrushchev himself wants a summit meeting now.

Encouraging Signs Seen In Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators working on ways to settle the rail-labor dispute say they are encouraged by a union official's announcement that the brotherhoods have submitted a new proposal to the railroads.

L. J. Wagner, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, told the Senate Commerce Committee the new offere was made Saturday in the reopened bargaining session.

He said no reply had come from the carriers and said he didn't believe they had had the time to present one.

'HEARD NOTHING'

However, Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, was at the hearing and when asked by a reporter about Wagner's statement, he said: "I have heard about nothing new that amounts to anything."

The railroads and unions resumed Labor Department bargaining sessions Friday under prodding from legislators who expressed fears that Congress might set a dangerous pattern by stepping into the dispute.

Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.) the Commerce Committee's acting chairman, has said he doesn't think the two sides are too far apart to reach an agreement through bargaining.

WIRTZ CAUTIONS

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has cautioned he sees no chance of a settlement except through legislation.

To give Congress a chance to act, the railroads have postponed again until Aug. 29 the new work rules which will eliminate thousands of jobs and which the unions have said will trigger a nationwide strike.

The Senate Commerce Committee stayed in session until almost 10 p.m. to hear the last union spokesman — Neil P. Speirs, president of the switchmen.

He told the committee "as long as the carriers know that a strike will not be tolerated in the railroad industry there will never be collective bargaining."

TYPHUS FEAR

More Live Persons Taken From Ruins

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Dynamite squads spelled the final doom today of what remained of pestilence-threatened Skopje, 90 per cent of which was ripped beyond repair by Friday's earthquake.

Rescue crews dug 10 more persons from the rubble before the blasting began last night. Trapped for more than 80 hours, they were located by a tiny microphone inserted into the ruins.

In case there were more survivors, the dynamite charges were planted only in buildings where no one could be alive.

The government hurried to level this once bustling city of 270,000. Fear of a typhus outbreak left no choice.

The government promised that Skopje, capital of Yugoslav Macedonia, will rise again. Geologists are to decide whether the present, centuries-old site is safe for rebuilding or whether survivors should begin life anew at another location.

Dynamite blew apart cracked buildings checked first for signs of life with the microphone, so sensitive it can pick up the sound of a man breathing.

The count of dead stood near 1,000. Hundreds more bodies were believed buried in acres of ruins.

Two of the bodies recovered were presumed to be those of U.S. Air Force Sgt. Harold R. Stacy of Gouverneur, N.Y., and his German wife.

Other Americans known to have been in Skopje escaped.

Under government orders, 150,000 residents had left by last night.

Crews labored in an almost unbearable stench of the dead and broken sewers. A heat wave and a water shortage compounded the atmosphere of nausea.

The government predicted that once a fleet of trucks, tractors, bulldozers and earthmovers rolled into high gear, the city would be cleared in a matter of days.

Officials discovered that hundreds of hastily dug graves were too shallow. Hygiene teams were ordered to spray them with disinfectant while deeper trenches were dug for mass reburials.

Other workmen set up facilities to make life less terrible for those who must see to Skopje's end.

Power was restored in some parts of the city. Shower trucks provided limited bathing facilities.

A new tremor flickered under the ruins of the city during the night. It brought down the weakened hulk of a two-story building.

While the tragedy lingered over Skopje, an earthquake yesterday struck a village in southern Iran, killing five persons and injuring eight. All 352 houses in the village of Gahgum were destroyed or damaged, official Iranian sources reported.

The first tremors were felt shortly after noon, and most of the people were out of doors.

An earthquake also was reported to have shaken Birjand, Iran, a city of 50,000 about 450 miles east of Tehran, on Sunday. No deaths were reported.

More than 10,000 persons died in earthquakes in northwest Iran less than a year ago.

G.M. Made $5.1 Million Every Day

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. made 5.1 million dollars a day in April, May and June, Saturdays and Sundays included.

G.M. and probably no other business concern, ever made it faster.

The No. 1 automaker and world's largest industrial corporation set eight sales and earnings records in the second quarter.

Company officials said the excellent second quarter results reflected continued high demand for G.M.'s automotive products and highs in national employment and personal income.

Profits soared to 464 million dollars G.M. said yesterday in reporting to stockholders on this spring's unprecedented auto boom.

Earnings were higher at 497 million dollars in the last three months of 1962. But that included 73.5 million dollars from sale of G.M.'s interest in Ethyl Corp. last November.

Second quarter net income came to $1.62 a share of common stock. The comparable sum in the fourth quarter of 1962 was $1.55, after a deduction of 19 cents a share owing to the Ethyl transaction.

Russians Face Grim Facts Of Nuclear War

MOSCOW (UPI)—"In case of atomic attack," says one Russian to another, "cover yourself with a white sheet and crawl slowly to the cemetery."

"Why slowly?" asks the friend.

"So as not to cause panic," answers the other.

This joke reflects the somber attitude which many Russians are taking towards thermonuclear war. And in recent weeks they have received strong warnings from Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Soviet press as to what it may be like.

'ENVY DEAD'

For a long time, the press avoided the subject. There were no pamphlets describing what to do. There was no fallout shelter program as in the United States.

Khrushchev put it simply July 20 when he said: "Won't the living envy the dead?"

He was referring to the wholesale pollution of the atmosphere which a thermonuclear war might cause.

The Sino-Soviet rift has deepened. Descriptions of the horrors have become more frequent. They are particularly occasioned by the Chinese advocacy of violent means to overcome capitalism and imperialism.

'BILLION KILLED'

Speaking at a friendship meeting for visiting Hungarian leader Janos Kadar, July 20, Khrushchev ridiculed the idea that a bright new society could be built "on the corpses of millions and millions of dead."

"By the calculations of experts, about one billion persons would be killed as a result of the very first blow, and the great cities of Europe, Asia and North America could be destroyed," he said.

DIFFERENT WAR

The Communist newspaper Pravda a few days later said:

"The effects of a thermonuclear war would show on life's progeny, bringing death and disease, and carrying with it a disformed growth of humanity".

Khrushchev played on a similar theme in his written message to an International Women's Conference here in June.

"The people realize more and more clearly that a new world war, should it break out, will be different from past wars.

"It will mean the loss of hundreds of millions of people, the destruction of the fruits of creative efforts of dozens of generations; it will inevitably reduce to ashes very much of what is generally referred to as civilization."

Pleads Innocent To Burglary, Stolen Goods

Joseph Correnti pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of burglary and another of receiving stolen goods stemming from the $15,000 burglary of a Belvedere home last month.

Correnti, 36, of 106 Granada Drive, Corte Madera, was arrested June 23 in the Bel Aire Shopping Center after a scuffle with police. He and Vincent P. Farina, 24, a San Francisco parolee, were charged with entering the home of Barney Norwitt, 2 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere.

In Marin County Superior Court yesterday, Judge N. Charles Brusatori at first set Sept. 24 for the trial, but later canceled the date because of a calendar conflict. Trial date will be reset on Aug. 5.

1,800-YEAR-OLD ROMAN SHIP FOUND IN THAMES

LONDON (UPI)—A wooden Roman ship that may be more than 1,800 years old has been discovered in the mud of the Thames River in the heart of London.

The vessel was found last year but only yesterday was it identified as Roman.

"It is one of the most complete Roman ships to have been excavated," according to Peter Marsden of the Guildhall Museum.

The museum is in charge of the excavation work, which has already turned up two Roman coins, pottery and a millstone.

Marsden said a small bronze coin dating from the reign of Domitian led to the identification of the vessel. Domitian was emperor from 81 to 96 A.D.

It was traditional that when the mast was placed in position in a new ship a coin was put under it, presumably as an offering to the gods.

Water Pollution Members Named

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has appointed James G. Ford, 49, Red Bluff attorney, and Marion S. Walker, publisher of the Red Bluff Daily News, to the Central Valley Regional Water Pollution Control Board.

An announcement by the governor's office today said Brown also reappointed Mrs. Thelma Van Overbeek of Modesto and John Van Assen of Stockton.

The two new members succeed Superior Court Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County and C. E. Plummer of Modesto. Terms are four years.

Cathy Rich of 16 Culloden Park Road, San Rafael, reported to Mill Valley police that while she was attending the movies in Mill Valley Saturday night, someone broke the windshield of her 1955 Chevrolet, parked near the Sequoia Theater on Throckmorton Avenue.

Africans Ponder Watering Down Portuguese Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—African nations seeking U.N. Security Council action against Portuguese colonialism had to decide today whether to water down the resolution they have submitted to the council so it would be adopted.

The 11-nation council was to vote this morning on the resolution and any other proposals that might be submitted.

African delegates conceded their resolution would not get the seven votes needed for adoption. But after a conference with Western delegates last night, they told newsmen they still had not decided whether to amend it.

The chief U.S. delegate, Adlai E. Stevenson said confidently, "it'll be changed."

The chief point at issue was a clause saying the situation in Portugal's African territories is "seriously endangering" peace in Africa. The United States wanted the resolution to say that continuance of the situation is likely to endanger peace.

Stevenson said he expected slight change in the provision calling for an embargo on arms for Portugal to use against nationalist movements in the territories.

The colonies are Angola, Mozambique, Portuguese Guinea and some islands off the African coast.

Stevenson said he would not insist that the resolution embody his suggestion that the council send a special representative to get the Portuguese into talks with African leaders about self-determination for the territories.

He said the Africans want to leave U.N. Secretary-General Thant leeway to tackle the problem as he sees fit "and that's all right with us."

Drug Case Figure Pleads Innocent

Duquesne A. Norton, 36, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of giving a dangerous drug to a minor, and Judge Harold J. Haley set the preliminary examination for Aug. 12 in Marin Municipal Court.

Norton, of 110 Laurel Place, San Rafael, was arrested July 22 by San Rafael police on a charge of trying to sell benzadrine to a 17-year-old West Marin boy.

Youth, 17, Leads Police On Wild Car Chase

A 17-year-old boy who broke away from San Rafael policemen who picked him up for curfew violation early today led officers on an auto chase at speeds up to 120 miles an hour in a wild round trip to Petaluma.

The boy driver was finally stopped in San Rafael, but only after a sheriff's patrol car and his own red 1962 hardtop had been damaged.

During the last part of the chase he repeatedly rammed his car into a patrol car driven by Sheriff's Deputy William Bradford, who was trying to box him in on Highway 101, the officer declared. Both cars were travelling about 75 miles an hour at the time.

The boy was taken to Marin County Juvenile Hall, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, resisting arrest, possession of alcohol, and a series of vehicle code violations.

The flight started shortly after San Rafael Police Officers Gerald Souza and Gary Walter noticed the youth in the Griddle Restaurant at 804 Fourth Street at 3:24 a.m. Knowing the boy as a previous curfew violator, they asked him why he was away from home at the late hour.

He told the pair he had been working hard the past two weeks and "was due to have a night out." He was told to lock his car and come with the police, but instead jumped into the car and sped off. Souza and Walter were too far from their patrol car to chase him. They called for help.

At 3:42 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Ernest Nielsen saw the boy's car pull away from a service station at Highway 101 and Entrada Drive, Ignacio. He flagged the youth down, parked in front of him, and got out of the patrol car, only to see the car speed off again.

Nielsen jumped back into his car and resumed the pursuit, headed north. Moments later Sgt. Floyd Hollowell from the Novato Police Department joined in, and the two followed the youth to Petaluma.

Neilsen lost the fleeing car in East Petaluma, but picked it up as it again headed south, with Hollowell speeding behind.

The two officers reported the runaway accelerated to 120 miles an hour on the south side of St. Vincent's Hill.

At Lucas Valley Road, Deputy Sheriff Bradford pulled in front of the juvenile, but the young driver rammed Bradford's car four times and then, at 70 miles an hour, pulled over to the shoulder of the road and sped away.

Nielsen tried again without success to halt the runaway at Mission Avenue in San Rafael. Finally, the youth stopped at Irwin Street and Woodland Avenue—so suddenly that Bradford's pursing patrol car rammed into the hardtop.

Inside the car officers found two cans of beer.

"We got him," Hollowell said later, "because we outdrove him, not because we went faster." The return trip from Petaluma took 14 minutes for 22 miles.

ing 16,500 acres of land.

The engineers also studied:

The Savage Plan—A modification of the Reber Plan which would move the barriers further out into the lower bay, omitting land fills, but including transportation and other necessary facilities at a cost estimated at $1,550,000,000.

Point San Pablo — A salt-water barrier with ship locks, flood gates and fishladders from Point San Pablo to Point San Pedro at a cost estimated at $596,400,000.

The Nishkian Plan—A tidal barrier with 2,000 feet of uncontrolled opening between San Francisco and Oakland, labeled "impractical due to operational problems."

The Dumbarton Plan — A tidal barrier with 500 feet of free-flow opening located 550 feet north of Dumbarton Bridge, also found "impractical."

The Sierra Point-Roberts Landing—A tidal barrier with a series of flap-gated culverts at the east and west ends with ship lock and transportation facilities. Set aside for further consideration in 10 to 20 years. Cost estimated at $214,000,000.

chased earlier by the city, at $191,500. He said both prices were in line with new appraisals made for the city.

The city a few months ago purchased the Howard property for $166,750. This would bring the total of city hall land acquisition to $519,250. Ebasco Services estimated a half million dollars as the cost.

Meanwhile, Carl F. Gromme, spokesman for a group of San Rafael architects designing the new city hall, said today design work is still in preliminary stages but "we should be ready for conference with city officials in about 10 days."

Court Approves Viscose Merger With FMC Corp.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals today ruled, in effect, that the proposed merger plans of FMC Corp. and American Viscose Corp. may proceed.

The three-judge court said it had no jurisdiction to interfere with the ruling of U.S. Dist. Judge George B. Harris on June 27. In that ruling, Harris held that the government had not proved its contention that FMC's 116-million-dollar purchase of Viscose operating assets would violate the Clayton antitrust act.

Today's decision came only 24 hours after FMC and Viscose attorneys argued that the court had no jurisdiction.

The appeals court agreed with the attorneys' contention that the only appeal can be from the results of a trial on the issue, and that must be directed to the United States Supreme Court.

American Flag Found

An American flag, of the type used in schools, was brought to the Mill Valley police yesterday afternoon by Mark John Bluth of 18 Stanton Way, who said he found it in some bushes at the end of Underhill Road.

Bodega Head Hearing Set For Marin

Supervisor Peter Behr succeeded today in scheduling Marin County Board of Supervisors' consideration of the projected Bodega Head nuclear electrical power plant for 2:30 p.m. Aug. 19.

This represented the first crack Behr has been able to make in the hitherto unbroken opposition of his colleagues to going on record about the project or even allowing discussion save among themselves.

A significant though brief remark was made by new supervisor Byron W. Leydecker. After remaining silent through a stormy argument, he said, "I'd be interested in informing myself on all sides of this."

Occasion for today's argument, in the course of which Chairman William D. Fusselman forecast "a riot" when the matter comes up again, was an offer by the Sonoma County Assn. for the Development of Bodega Bay to send a speaker explaining the group's views.

Writing from Rohnert Park, Paul Golis as secretary of the group said his association wished to "assist in the development of what we call the Bodega Bay project" to include not only an atomic plant but also a marine laboratory, a Coast Guard station, and various parks.

Fusselman at once said, "the majority of the board has decided against any involvement."

"I think this should be delightful and I suggest we hear the speaker two weeks from now," said Behr.

"There's going to be a riot if you do," Fusselman retorted.

Supervisor George Ludy spoke up heatedly to say he had been told by Sonoma County supervisors that they wanted Marin's board to "stay down in your county and tend to your own business."

"If they don't feel this affects Marin then they haven't studied it with care," Behr declared. He said his position never has been one of opposition to all atomic plants "but only in locations in close proximity to large areas of population and the San Andreas fault."

Behr declared he spoke for 22,000 constituents who had elected him.

"That's a mistake for about 18,000 of them don't feel as you do," retorted Ludy. But later Ludy said he wouldn't object to hearing any speaker.

Arab Tries To Tell Of Being Hit

An Arab named Abad who speaks no English had a tough time explaining to Sausalito police Sunday night he had been knocked down by a car in the parking lot at Zack's-by-the-Bay at Turney Street and Bridgeway.

Mehde Abad, police said, used his hands to indicate his back was injured and his fingers to tell he is 22 years old until his friend, David Pyrooz, an Arab with whom he is staying at 215 Second Street, arrived to translate.

Abad was taken to Marin General Hospital, X-rayed for a possible broken rib, kept overnight and released yesterday. He told police through Pyrooz that he walked out of Zack's at 8:30 p.m. to get some air and that a car being backed out by Josephine Casassa of 130 Via Lerida, San Rafael, knocked him down.

Miss Casassa said it wasn't that way at all. She told officers that Abad got into a car, then got out and walked behind her car. Suddenly he screamed and fell to the ground, she said. Miss Casassa did not move her car nor hit Abad, she told police.

Keys Left In Ignition —Auto Is Stolen

Nils Costa Erickson of 33 Terrace Avenue, San Anselmo, parked his car for five minutes at 4 p.m. Sunday at Front Street and Medway Road, San Rafael.

When he returned the car, a 1963 Volvo station wagon had been stolen, he reported to police. He had left the keys in the ignition.

Army Aircraft, Private Plane Collide In Air

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A twin-engine Army aircraft and a small private plane collided in the air near Allentown today and fell in flames into a cornfield.

Two bodies were found in the wreckage of the Army plane, which was from the U.S. War College at Carlisle, Pa. Another body was found about a mile away.

Mill Valley Police Place Hold On Theft Suspect

Mill Valley police have placed a hold on James Ray Olden, 20, of Richmond for a burglary he allegedly committed in Mill Valley July 6, police said today. Olden was picked up this week in Richmond on a petty theft charge and is now in Contra Costa County jail.

Olden, officers reported, has admitted taking a $175 transistor radio from the home of G. C. Nooney at 77 Molino Avenue.

Hub Firemen Save Girls On Ledge

San Anselmo Fire Chief Frank Sousa and fireman Dave Pardee responded to a call on Red Hill yesterday afternoon to haul down three little girls who were marooned on a ledge, and found the frightened, crying youngsters as much afraid of what their mothers would do to them as they were of their unsafe location.

Nancy Moore, 8, and her sister Cathy, 5, were climbing around the hill behind the Drake Market with Cindy Hideway, 5, and soon discovered that they were on a ledge overlooking a drop of some 30 feet.

They began crying for help. James Farmer of 33 Lansdale Avenue, retired San Anselmo policeman, heard them as he was shopping in a drug store nearby. Farmer told them to remain on the ledge, and called the fire department.

Chief Sousa and Pardee climbed around and down to the ledge, and after comforting the badly frightened tots, asked the girls to lead them back up the hill. Nancy, Cathy and Cindy accepted the challenge and "led" the firemen to safety. The "rescue" was aided by two teen-age boys, Joe Canning and Roger Topping.

Chief Sousa drove the girls to their homes in an apartment house at 770 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, but found that their mothers were out searching for the girls.

Catherine S. Brady, a lifelong resident of San Rafael, died yesterday at her home at 320 D Street after a long illness. She was 90.

Her husband, the late James B. Brady, a conductor for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, died in 1952. The couple married in St. Raphael's Church in 1894.

She is survived by two daughters, Anne Brady of San Rafael and Mrs. Alice Pasini of Los Angeles; a son, Edward Brady of San Rafael; two grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral cortege will form at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, at 9:15 a.m. Thursday and go to St. Raphael's Church for a Requiem Mass at 9:30 a.m. The Rosary will be recited at the mortuary at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Codding-Hall Rites Are Held

Private funeral services for Ruby Jewell Codding-Hall of Santa Rosa, a native of Marin County, were held today in Petaluma. She died Sunday in a Santa Rosa Hospital after a brief illness. She was 86.

Mrs. Codding-Hall was born at Jewell Station on Tomales Bay near Invesness. Her family settled in the area in 1854. She attended schools in Santa Rosa and the Dominican Convent in San Rafael.

Her first husband, George C. Codding of Petaluma, an insurance superintendent, died in 1935. In 1936 she married D. W. Hall, a general contractor in Santa Rosa. He died in 1950.

Mrs. Codding-Hall was active in civic life in Sonoma County. She ran unsuccessfully for county supervisor in 1944. In recent years she worked with Girl Scouts and other youth groups. Ruby Jewell Girl Scout Lodge in Santa Rosa was named in her honor.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of the Roses, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Saturday Afternoon Club.

Bracero Farm Labor Program Is Attacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Undersecretary John S. Henning today attacked the Mexican bracero farm labor program as a "betrayal" of U. S. workers.

He told a Senate migratory labor subcommittee the "wretched law" which permits importation of Mexican farm workers— braceros— "should be buried" or changed to give U. S. agriculture workers the same benefits as the braceros get.

Henning's testimony came as Senate liberals fought to keep the program from being extended beyond this year. The House, in a stunning upset, recently voted down a two-year extension.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams (D-N. J.), the subcommittee chairman, was spearheading the drive and the hearing was viewed as an effort to head off new bracero legislation. Henning appeared before the subcommittee to talk about a bill to create a voluntary farm labor service.

Henning spoke of an "incredible situation" of Mexican workers being offered better employment conditions in the United States than U. S. laborers are. He said the law, if extended, should be changed to make growers offer them the same terms — free such as transportation and housing.

Williams was joined in his fight by Sens. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) and Maurine B. Neuberger (D-Ore.). They criticized a bracero extension bill being cleared for a vote without public hearings being held.

St. Stephen's School Might Open Regardless Of Law

St. Stephen's Parish Episcopal Day School may open in September regardless of whether the City of Belvedere amends its ordinance to permit schools in a residential area, James Michael told the Belvedere planning commission last night.

"I understand the school will go ahead regardless of what we do," Commissioner Thomas E. Stanton Jr. told Michael, attorney for school proponents. And acting Chairman George V. Banning added "Chances are the (city) council won't be able to make their decision before school starts."

Michael said teachers have been contracted for, pupils enrolled, and preparations made for a school for 60 children.

The commission heard arguments from Michael, attorney Herbert H. Scheier, who argued against the school, and the audience, and then adjourned again to Aug. 26 at 8 p.m. At that time it will try to make its decision on whether to recommend to city council that the zoning ordinance be amended to permit St. Stephen's Episcopal Church to open a parochial school on its property at 3 Bay Vista Avenue.

The extra time will permit legal briefs to be submitted by Scheier (Aug. 12) and Michael (Aug. 22) to Marin Superior Court, where a lawsuit has been filed by Scheier and two other Belvedere residents asking that the city council be enjoined from violating its own zoning ordinance. Copies of the brief are to be studied by the planning commissioners prior to making their decision.

Banning gave proponents and opponents a limit of one hour each to talk. Michael, who began, suggested an amendment to the zoning ordinance to read:

"Church means any building and accessory building used for religious worship and such other accessory uses, including the conduct of a parochial school, as are customarily incidental thereto." He said the present ordinance does not define "church."

The attorney presented affidavits from former churchmen and city officials to support his brief that the proposed school did not spring into being overnight, but had been contemplated for many years. Michael cited a petition signed by "300 families" who, he said, favor the school. He said he believes it would be unconstitutional for Belvedere to prevent establishment of the school.

Scheier, who resides next door to the church, argued that a use permit was granted to enlarge the existing church and not for a school or any other use. He called the affidavits "irrelevant."

He cited a petition signed by 119 people, mainly living at the "front door" of the church, asking the council to "enforce the law," and produced evidence that the city since 1941 has been zoned in specific areas for single family homes only.

A letter was read from Clarence A. Phillips of 7 North Point Circle in which he said that if the ordinance is broken that the Moffitt mansion abutting his property could become a dancing school. "Breaking this ordinance would be an open sesame to every kind of private school," he said.

Opposing the change, too, was John A. Ostrom of 11 Bay View Avenue, who said the street is narrow and unsafe, 60 children would produce a lot of noise, and the school would not have adequate playground space.

Josh Eppinger, 300 San Rafael Avenue, appealed as a taxpayer, he said, and "as a very selfish person who believes in maintaining my property values, that the present law be continued as it is."

Mrs. Elmer Fraas, 12 Bay View Avenue, said the present church operation is a great inconvenience to surrounding property owners. She complained about having to call police at 2 a.m. to ask that lights be shut off, and said draw drapes on the church are never drawn and there is a traffic problem.

Also speaking against the school were Gerald Sheedy, 18 Golden Gate Avenue; Otto Claire, 2 Tamalpais Avenue, and Tom Price, 7 West Shore Road.

Speaking in favor of the school were John R. Roefer of 32 Peninsula Road, who said "there are two sides and I would like it settled for the good of the community as a whole"; Dick McAfee, 1 North Point Circle, and C. W. Bunnell 16 Buckeye Road, who said the school is to be a morning school only and would be out at 12:30 p.m.

"Please explain why it is the regular church school can have children going on Sundays, Saturdays, Wednesdays, Tuesdays or Saturday mornings," asked Mrs. J. R. Moore of 32 Golden Gate Avenue.

"We can teach at all hours of the day or night. We can teach plain adults and no use permit is given. What is the difference?"

Chinese Leaders Called Ignorant

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party charged today that Chinese Communist leaders are staggeringly ignorant or criminal adventures.

Denouncing the Chinese thesis that a third world war would bring a complete victory for communism, an article in Pravda by Peter N. Pospelov said.

"It is difficult to say what predominates in such statements of the Chinese leaders: staggering ignorance and lack of understanding of what a modern thermonuclear world war would mean, or a criminally adventurist and flippant attitude toward the destinies of humanity."

Planners Ask Quarry Duplexes

Corte Madera planning commissioners by 4-0 vote last night recommended that zoning of the 24-acre quarry site be changed from apartment to duplexes.

The action followed the commission's rejection July 8 of a plan for 384 apartments in the area, which is off Meadowsweet Drive west of Highway 101. Commissioners said the apartments, proposed by Kaehler-Farrar Development Inc. of San Rafael, would not be harmonious with the area.

Commissioner Harold B. Wagstaff, who opposed rejection of the plan, was not present last night when commissioners recommended the change to duplex zoning. Wagstaff, who was at a board of design meeting, arrived at the commission meeting later.

The commission by 3-2 vote recommended approval of pharmacist Robert Vogel's application for a prescription pharmacy in the Bank of America building on Tamalpais Avenue. The property is in a professional zone and the use can only be permitted if the ordinance is changed. This, too, the commission recommended to the town council.

Commissioners Jennings W. Smith and Wagstaff voted against the application, saying there were commercial properties available for a pharmacy. Charman Cecil W. Thomas at first said he would abstain from voting because Vogel was a friend, but Thomas's vote was needed to break a tie when commissioners Norman Eaton and William T. Sheehan voted for the permit.

Sheehan, replacing Felix V. Pioli who resigned two months ago, was sworn in last night.

Watsonville Fire Damage: $175,000

WATSONVILLE (UPI) — A spectacular fire swept through a bowling alley in the center of the Watsonville business district early today, causing an estimated $175,000 damage.

The blaze destroyed Watsonville Bowl and a novelty store and radio shop located in the frame bowling alley building. Firemen said the fact that the bowling alley was located between brick and concrete buildings prevented the fire from spreading.

The bowling alley was on Third Street across from the city plaza, and the flames from the fire lighted the entire business district. It took firemen three hours to bring the fire under control.

PUC Orders Briefs In Digit Dialing Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Anti-Digit Dialing League and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. were given until Aug. 23 by the State Public Utilities Commission yesterday to submit final briefs in their digit-dialing dispute.

The PUC, which concluded hearings on the controversy yesterday, was expected to render an opinion in the case before Sept. 1.

Attorney Mel Belli, representing the opposition group, made an impassioned final argument against digit-dialing during yesterday's session.

"We have the right to retain the nostalgia and romanticism of the present system still in use in San Francisco," Belli said. "We like the old numbers and we want the old numbers."

However, PT&T attorney Francis Marshall argued that Belli hadn't proved anything except that it might be hard to get used to the new system. Even PT&T representatives admitted that.

Neil M. Calderwood, a traffic engineer for the company, testified under cross-examination by Belli that if telephone company employees were polled today that would probably turn thumbs down on digit-dialing.

However, he explained his answer by saying that people generally don't like changes— and if a few years later the same employees were polled they they would probably like the new system.

Belli asked if all-number calling is "easier on the memory."

"Not right now, it wouldn't be easier," Calderwood replied.

Yank Students In Cuba Preparing To Come Home

HAVANA (UPI)—Fifty-eight American students who defied U.S. immigration laws to visit Cuba as government guests for a month prepared today to return to the United States.

When and how the students plan to return to New York, where they started their trip, was not made public. It was evident from a farewell news conference they held yesterday, however, that their Castro-paid tour of Cuba had ended.

The news conference at Havana University was preceded by distribution of a statement in which the students praised the "progressive" Cuban Communist regime and said it was "invulnerable." It called the U.S. State Department ban on travel to Cuba absurd and said that because of "lies" in the American press, Americans were "uninformed" and "misinformed" as to Cuba's reported stature as a Soviet satellite.

A spokesman for the students said they had cabled Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) asking clarification on how they were going to return. The State Department revoked the passports of the students last week for violating the ban on private travel to Cuba.

Sanitary District Budget Adopted

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors last night adopted a 1963-64 budget of $20,315 and said they expect the tax rate to be 69 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Last year's budget was $19,070 and the tax rate for operation and maintenance was 65 cents.

Though the tax is expected to increase, Chairman Warren I. Jacobs said, payment in retirement of bonded indebtedness will decrease this year and thus make the total tax paid by the residents of the district for sanitary purposes approximately the same.

Final Report Is Due On Unification

Wheels may be set in motion toward unification of school districts from San Rafael through Novato by filing of a final report of a management consultant firm within a week.

Edward Anderson of Booz-Allen and Hamilton reported today his complete report on reorganization of Novato Unified, San Rafael Elementary and High, and Dixie and San Jose Elementary School Districts should be ready for submission to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization "by the end of this week or early next week."

Anderson has recommended one unified district be formed of the San Rafael and Dixie Elementary School Districts, another of the Novato Unified and San Jose Elementary School Districts. This would have an effect of splitting the San Rafael High School District, which now includes San Rafael, Dixie and San Jose Elementary Districts.

The report will include charts and figures to back this recommendation. On receiving it, the county committee may schedule public hearings as preliminary to a possible election on the proposal.

JFK Brother Is Blamed For Racial Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson of Mississippi today accused the Kennedy administration and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of principal responsibility for racial violence and troubles throughout the country.

His charge, in testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee, was challenged by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) who was presiding. "I disagree," Monroney said.

Patterson declared: "I firmly believe that the present U.S. attorney general, with the approval of the President of the United States, is far more responsible for the racial violence and troubles we are having throughout this nation than the ruthless leaders who are sponsoring and promoting racial unrest.

"I make this charge because I know as a matter of fact that down in my state agents and representatives of the U.S. Department of Justice are ever present where there is racial trouble and instead of working with the duly elected and responsible officials in an effort to prevent violence and disorder, these agents of the U.S. attorney general actually aid, abet and encourage violation of state laws and municipal ordinances, assuring the agitators that if and when arrested the Department of Justice will come to their rescue."

Preceding Patterson to the witness table in today's hearings on the Kennedy public accommodation bill was Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia.

Patterson asked that Congress leave it to men and women of good will to work out voluntary solutions to the racial problems.

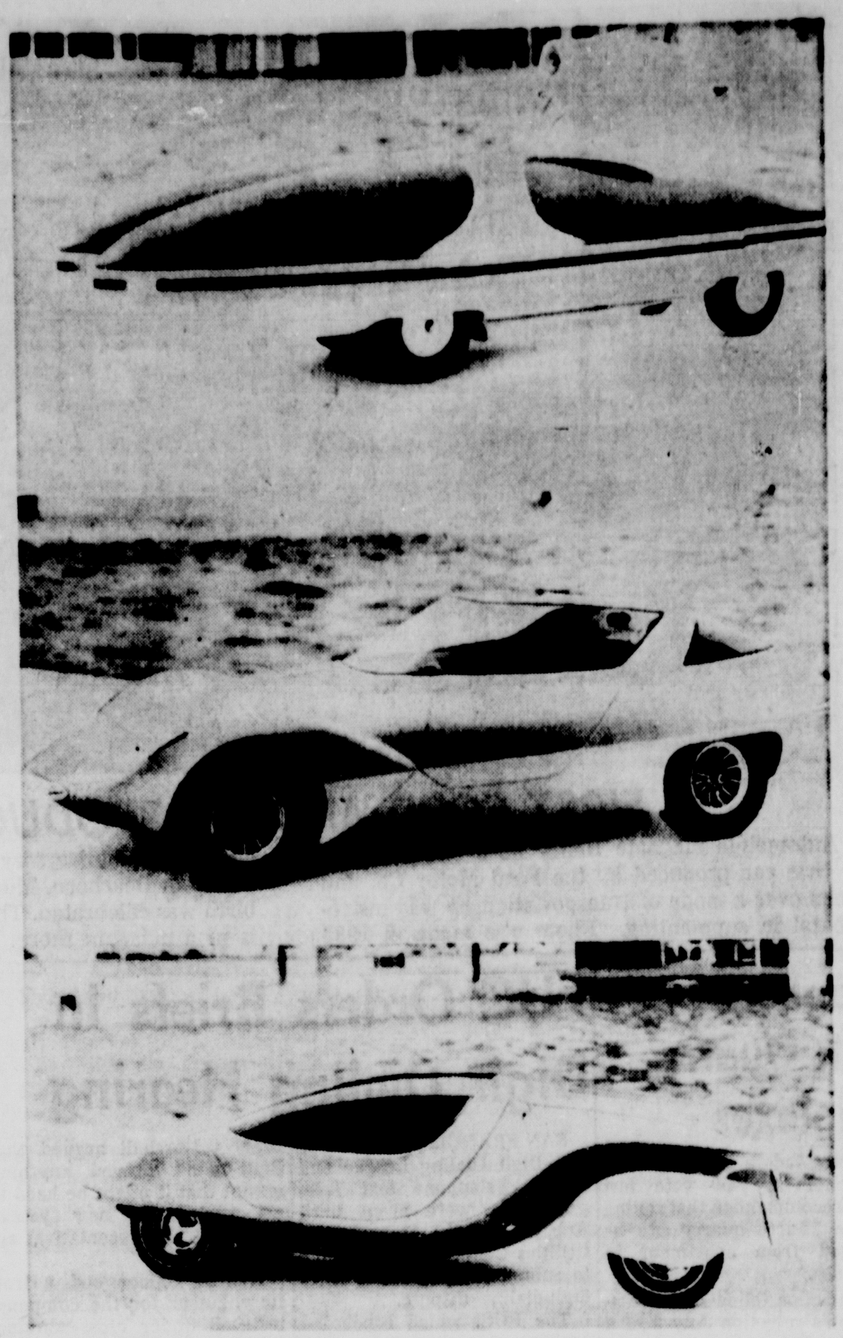

He strongly opposed the public accommodations bill and said its enactment would result only in resentment and resistance.

The Senate Commerce Committee is considering only the public accommodations part of the administration's seven-point civil rights program.

The Senate Judiciary Committee—which has the entire package—had asked Atty. Gen. Kennedy before it for simultaneous hearings.

In the House, representatives of major Negro organizations had an appointment with Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) to urge inclusion of a fair employment practices provision in the omnibus bill. Celler heads the House Judiciary Committee.

Sanders was the fifth Southern governor to testify before the Senate Commerce group.

Buddhists Demonstrate In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI)—About 22,000 Buddhists today staged peaceful demonstrations in support of anti-government Buddhist leaders here and in the imperial Capital of Hue.

About 7,000 Buddhists massed in the main Xa Loi Pagoda in Saigon for a day of prayer. It was the largest gathering at the pagoda since the South Viet Nam politico-religious dispute with Roman Catholic President Ngo Dinh Diem began in May.

In Hue, 15,000 Buddhists marched in a memorial service for the priest who burned himself to death last month to protest alleged government religious discrimination.

Shops were closed briefly in both cities for the beginning of the observances but many reopened later. The government had threatened loss of licenses for refusal to remain open. Civil servants were warned they would be fired if they missed work for the procession.

Buddhist leaders had called for a virtual general strike in urging participation in the national day of prayer for religious equality.

Troops and secret servicemen kept a close watch on both demonstrations, but there were no incidents.

The Hue marchers were led by yellow-robed priests and nuns to a memorial service at the Dieu De Pagoda honoring priest Thich Quang Duc. The priest immolated himself with burning gasoline at a Saigon street intersection to dramatize the church-state conflict.

The Buddhist quarrel with Diem began in Hue on May 8 when government troops allegedly killed nine demonstrators. The government claims they were killed by Communist terrorists.

Cuban Star Killed

MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban refugees reported today that Luis Carbonell, a star of stage and television before Fidel Castro came to power, was shot and killed recently while trying to escape from Cuba.

Carbonell, who specialized in readings of folk poetry, had not appeared publicly since shortly after Castro seized power in 1959.

Rafferty Offers Plan To End Board Dispute

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Maxwell G. Rafferty today proposed that an independent group of educators attempt to end the dispute between him and the State Board of Education.

Rafferty, the superintendent of public instruction, said that the disputes had grown to the point that many persons were saying "a plague on both your houses."

"I agree basically with this point of view," Rafferty said during his one hour news conference.

Rafferty said that he had called board President Thomas Braden with the idea and that the two were scheduled to discuss it at a private meeting. Rafferty declined to say when or where they would meet.

Rafferty said that the group of educators would "study the differences between the superintendent and the board of education and recommend how future conduct can best be conducted."

Rafferty said that he already had in mind the name of a man to head the group, but again declined to give the information.

Discussing future conduct, Rafferty said that the new educator group might suggest that both he and board members consult with each other more frequently before making statements to the press.

Shepherd Dog Kills, Gets Shot

A German shepherd dog being taken for a walk in Alto Friday turned and killed a small dog which was barking and nipping at his legs. Minutes later, a man who saw the fight walked into a front yard and shot the Shepherd dog.

The German shepherd named Grife, today was recovering from the wound from the .22 caliber automatic at a pet hospital.

Owner Byron L. Berry of 38A Shell Road, told sheriff's officers that Rhonda Jensen, 38B Shell Road, took the 6-year-old dog for a walk on a leash. Near the Alto firehouse a small brown dog ran out of a house and began barking at them.

Grife turned, picked the smaller animal up in his teeth and shook it, according to the girl, who then dropped the leash and ran home crying. Grife followed.

William P. Stickney of 30 Shell Road entered Berry's front yard with a pistol a few minutes later and shot the dog, saying, "He bit my dog so I shot him." He later told Deputy James L. Current the little dog was actually owned by Sydney Dooray, 28 Shell Road.

Stickney said he found the little dog lying in the street, dying, and lost his temper.

Radio Is Stolen

Novato Phone Merger Is Approved

Stockholders of Western California Telephone Co., which serves the Novato area, have approved a merger with General Telephone Co., it was learned today.

More than the necessary 80 per cent of stockholders of Western California have approved the changeover.

A letter signed by Donald C. Power, chairman of the board of directors of General Telephone, was mailed today to shareholders notifying them of the switchover.

The letter announces that the stock exchange offer, made June 21, has been extended from its original July 31 deadline to Aug. 31 to give the remaining stockholders a chance to approve the merger.

The merger means no change of name or personnel for the company in Novato, but it is expected to cause a change of membership in the board of directors of General Telephone Co., with the possibility that Western California Telephone directors will be appointed to the larger company's board.

General Telephone Co. of California has its main office in Santa Monica. It serves a large number of phone users in Southern California, including one million telephones in the Santa Monica area alone. Its parent company is in New York City.

Western California Telephone Co., with headquarters in Los Gatos, acquired the Novato company in 1951 with the common stock selling at $16 a share. The company's stock jumped to $45 in March this year when rumors began circulating that General Telephone Co. was trying to acquire control.

Also subject to subpoena in the case is Lillian Koss, who reportedly toured South America with Herman last fall and accompanied him on the recent Brazilian trip.

Herman, who once worked at Sally Stanford's Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, was associated in the diamond dead with Bernard E. de Senan, a former resident of Kentfield.

Ex-Furrier Kaplan Is Given 15 Years

Ex-furrier Murray Kaplan, 49, of San Francisco, was sentenced to one to 15 years in prison in San Francisco Superior Court yesterday for his part in receiving stolen goods taken Dec. 30, 1961, from the Joseph C. Hickingbotham home at 1408 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Kaplan halted his trial in June to plead guilty to helping dispose of $92,000 in loot taken from the home. Superior Court Judge Harry Neubarth denied a motion for probation.

Often Civil War troops used pork or beef barrels piled on top of each other as chimneys for their primitive winter quarters. Being soaked with grease, these chimneys frequently caught fire and routed the soldiers from their sleep or card games.

Paper Says Russian A-Blast Knocked Out U.S. Satellite

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Russian nuclear blast detonated in space during the Soviet test series that ended last Dec. 24 crippled the electronic equipment of an American space satellite, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat said today.

In a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau, the Globe-Democrat said the satellite is believed still orbiting the earth, but its communications and control equipment ceased to function after the Russian test.

The effects of the blast have never been made public by United States authorities, the paper said, but are known to the Russians through their monitoring of American satellites.

The Russians presumably now know a great deal about how to knock out any American satellites, whether sent up for photographic work or weather observation or for other purposes, the Globe-Democrat said.

The paper said that Russian knowledge of how to paralyze a satellite without having to hit it directly also would give them a head start toward designing some type of protection for their own satellites.

Baby Sitter Pleads Innocent To Beating

Beck, 691 Hawthorne Drive, Tiburon, complained to the sheriff's office she returned home from work to find her son, Corey, standing in the corner with bruises on his face, a cut lip, and swelling around his ear.

BUT LADY, IT AIN'T WATER!

Marilyn Greenblatt has heard so much about the buoyancy of the dollar in purchasing power during San Rafael Dollar Days that she tried water-skiing on the green stuff on Fourth Street. Myron Zwang, chairman of the sponsoring San Rafael Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee, dons nautical cap to get in the act but explains the way to make those dollars "float something" is to spend them at San Rafael stores on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Dollar Day values will be featured in a special section of tomorrow's Independent-Journal.

Negroes Ask Meeting With Powers Of City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A leader of San Francisco's Negroes says "What we want is a face to face meeting with the power structure of this city."

Only by that means can San Francisco's race problems be worked out, Dr. Thomas Burbridge told a hymn-singing crowd of 1,400 Negroes and whites who jammed a church last night.

Burbridge, president of the local National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People chapter, said he doesn't object to the bi-racial makeup of meetings suggested by Mayor George Christopher.

"What we do object to is a bi-racial community in which the business community talks to itself, civil rights groups renew constant discussions under the blessing of the mayor and city officials talk to themselves."

The power structure Burbridge referred to was identified as "those business, professional and labor leaders who are the prime movers in our society" and who stand "behind the facade of elected and appointed officials in a city."

West Virginia University's baseball team won 30 of its 33 games last spring.

LATEST FILM NOW PLANNED IS 'THE BIBLE'

PARIS (UPI) — Columbia Pictures today announced it has allocated 20 million dollars for a film production of "The Bible."

The announcement said the film will be produced by Dimo de Laurentis of Italy and directed by Orson Welles, Luchino Visconti and two other internationally known directors.

Filming is scheduled to start in two months in Italy.

The 1965 USGA Amateur golf championship will be held at the Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla.

Dairymen Against Lowering Of Milk Prices By State

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — About 250 dairymen and other members of the milk industry attended the latest of a series of milk price hearings by the State Department of Agriculture yesterday in Santa Rosa.

The department's bureau of milk stabilization, as required by law, is holding the hearings to determine the reaction of the industry and public to its proposed lowering of milk prices.

Yesterday's witnesses were unanimously against any decrease in the retail price of milk.

State Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan (D-Santa Rosa) questioned the legality of any price cut instituted by the bureau. He accused the bureau of using price manipulation as a means of stamping out unfair trade practices within the dairy industry.

John Watson, president of the Consolidated Milk Producers of California, said a decrease of one half cent per quart would cost producers 11.4 million dollars a year.

Criminologist Says Racial Crisis Everyone's Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"The current racial crisis is not a crisis of the Negro, or of the conservative, or of the reactionary white. It is a crisis of the American people and the democratic way of life," says criminologist Joseph D. Lohman.

Dr. Lohman, dean of the School of Criminology of the University of California at Berkeley, told the National Urban League yesterday that Negroes make up 10 per cent of the nation's population and yet account for 20 per cent of juvenile delinquency.

"Negro youth are exposed to the evil effect of being blocked from cultural assimilation in our cities," said Lohman, "and their crime is the abortive fruit of our failure. We are at a critical juncture in American community development."

Nelson C. Jackson of New York, associate executive director of the league, said earlier that the effects of discrimination are becoming intensified as cities grow.

Jackson estimated that the unemployment rate is twice as high among Negroes as that of the nation in general. About 50 per cent of Negroes between 16 and 21 are not working, he said, and more than two-thirds of Negroes who do have jobs are grouped in five unskilled and semi-skilled job classifications. He did not list them.

"Part of this," Jackson said, "is because fair employment policies in the national offices of businesses and unions have trickled down to the local level for positive action."

The league is a social work agency which attempts to improve conditions for the urban Negro.

Other major problems cited by Jackson include discrimination in housing and education. He said eight million Negro students per year drop out of high school, due to "lack of incentive and a limited career range beyond high school."

Nixon Predicts U.S.-France Thaw

PARIS (AP) — Richard M. Nixon lunched with President Charles de Gaulle today, and later predicted a thaw in the present chilly relations between the United States and France.

The former vice president told reporters as he left the Elysee Palace that he could not divulge any of the contents of his talks with de Gaulle.

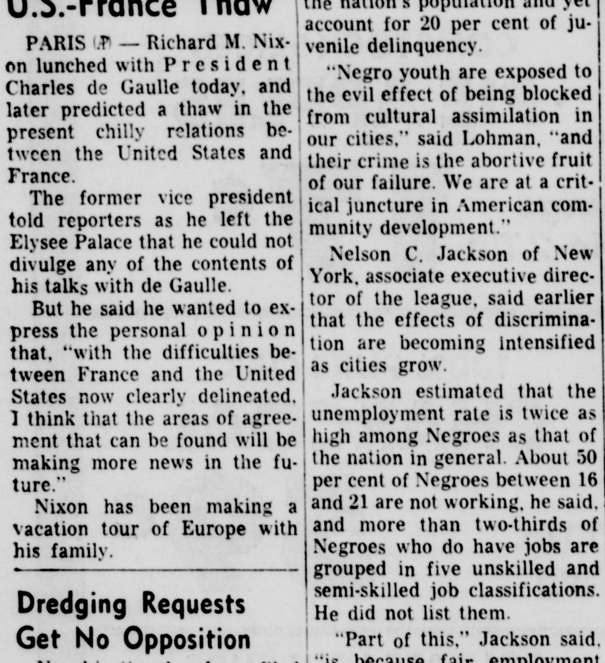

But he said he wanted to express the personal opinion that, "with the difficulties between France and the United States now clearly delineated, I think that the areas of agreement that can be found will be making more news in the future."

Nixon has been making a vacation tour of Europe with his family.

Dredging Requests Get No Opposition

Also, no objection has been filed to the application of Benson Eschenbach of Point Richmond to build a pier on the east side of Tomales Bay, about a mile south of Marconi, the Army Engineers district office in San Francisco reported today.

Ames Ford clocks 360 ... running on I-J advertising

Ames Ford, San Rafael, "clocked" something better than speed with its advertising in the Independent-Journal.

It clocked the Ford-tastic total of 360 sales of cars and trucks during just 25 working days in June . . . an all-time Ames Ford record.

"Like the car in the picture, we ran to the record on Independent-Journal advertising," says Lou Concilio, Vice President and General Manager. "We ran consistent, large-space ads, some in color, during June. We kept up continuity. We told the public about quality and service. Told people about our sales contest. The I-J brought in customers so fast we practically had another race keeping up with the paper work."

Results like this don't just "happen." They come from sound merchandising and creative advertising. Ames offered quality and value. The Independent-Journal offered full exposure and readership throughout the county. People saw the ads in the medium they look to first for news of products and values.

Which proves again: if you meet the public with quality and value through the I-J, the public will "meet" you with the urge to buy—and the money to buy it.

Ask Ames Ford.

Woman Leaps To Her Death From Bridge

Mrs. Frank Jennings, 45, of 604 Rowland Boulevard, Novato, leaped to her death from the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday at about 1:08 p.m. for unknown reasons.

A toll collector saw her standing near the south tower of the bridge and when he looked a moment later she was gone . . . the 247th known suicide from the span.

She left no notes but was identified by her husband at the coroner's office in San Francisco. He could give no reason for his wife's action.

California Highway Patrol Officer John Allison saw her body floating on the west side of the south tower. The Coast Guard was notified and recovered the body under the bridge.

The CHP reported that an unidentified witness saw Mrs. Jennings with her foot on the rail, but was unable to stop because of traffic.

Two Brothers Out On $1,200 Limb Over Credit Card, Tree

Brothers Leonard and Russell Fabian, out on a $1,200 limb at the Bank of America, were in custody in San Francisco today along with a plastic maple tree up-rooted from the Bankamericard Center in San Francisco.

Both face charges of conspiracy. Police said Leonard, 25, of San Francisco ran up the $1,200 charges on his brother Russell's card. Russell, 21, of 162 Alpine Terrace, San Rafael, had told the bank the card was stolen.

The tree—that was another story.

Leonard Fabian told police he fell for the green foliage and gold limbs of the tree last December when he went to the Bankamericard Center to report the theft of his credit card.

He said he returned a month later, broke the chain holding the tree to the wall and walked out with the king-sized decoration, apparently unnoticed.

On June 27 and 28, Leonard hit upon a plan to extend the bank's generosity, police claimed. He borrowed his brother's credit card and went out on the spending spree, charging everything from irons, to purses, to underwear.

The bank agreed to pay the $1,200 bill when Russell Fabian reported his card stolen, but the brothers went one step too far. Leonard lent the card to a girl friend. When she tried to charge something in a San Francisco department store, the clerk became suspicious and the girl fled.

The clerk got the license number of the car, and police trailed her to Leonard Fabian's apartment. There they found the plastic maple tree and a brother who confessed all.

Leonard was arrested Saturday. Russell was arrested yesterday. Both brothers are auto mechanics.

Giants Gaining Momentum, Take On Phillies Tonight

"The National League is tough and you can't count on anything in or out until the season is over," declares Manager Alvin Dark of the resurging San Francisco Giants after they won their eighth straight game.

"All a team has to do is lose momentum one day and it can go into a slump," he continued, after his Giants had edged Pittsburgh 5-4 for a series sweep, thanks to Willie Mays three-run homer and great relief pitching by Jim Duffalo and Billy Pierce.

Ten days ago fans counted 10 over the Giants only to discover this wasn't boxing and the club wasn't out at all. For after being 10 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers on July 20, the Giants have climbed back into second place just 4½ games off the pace.

Tonight they face the hot Philadelphia Phillies and young Ray Culp as Billy O'Dell draws the San Francisco hurling assignment in the bid for a ninth straight. They face the Phillies again on Wednesday, finishing up the home stand.

Mays slugged a two-run homer on Sunday to win 3-1 and his 24th blast of the season yesterday provided the winning margin. Yet Willie claims to be doing nothing differently than earlier in the season when his slump amazed the baseball world.

"I'm swinging just the same and feeling just the same," declared the star centerfielder.

Asked about Willie's homer production this trip home, Dark commented: "A month ago some people said Mays was slipping and I told them to look at the records after the season is over and they'd see him among the leaders again."

Actually, Mays had only two hits in the Pittsburgh series, but both were game-winning homers. On July 25, he collected three hits against the New York Mets including a three-run homer as the Giants won 8-6. Two days before that he had two homers against the Mets in a 9-1 San Francisco victory.

In the second inning yesterday, it appeared the victory string might be breaking as Pittsburgh scored three runs off starter Gaylord Perry on two walks and singles by Earl Francisco, Bill Virdon and Roberto Clemente, all after two were out.

When Smoky Burgess singled to open the third, Dark called in Duffalo, who blanked the Pirates three innings. San Francisco scored once in the second and again in the third on Chuck Hiller's solo homer.

Trailing 3-2, the Giants rallied in the fifth as as Mays homered off Vernon Law, after Harvey Kuenn singled and Willie McCovey walked. Virdon singled home a sixth inning run off Jack Fisher in the sixth but then the veteran Pierce came on to blank the Bucs the rest of the way.

L. A. SHRINE GAME THURSDAY

North Boasts Huge Line, To Feature Pro T Attack

Although the North All-Stars will be using a Pro T formation when they battle the Southern Stars Thursday in the 12th annual Shrine Football Classic in Los Angeles, they'll probably be running half of the time.

Major reason is that the North line averages 15 pounds per man heavier than the front wall of the South.

Redwood High School's head football coach, Bob Troppmann, co-coach for the North All-Stars, told the Independent-Journal by telephone from Los Angeles yesterday that the north morale is high and the line is big.

Troppmann and Bob Berry, head coach at San Jose's Willow Glen High School, will be leading a group of 25 of the top prep gridders from Northern California against their counterparts from Southern Cal.

TEAM UNITY

Troppmann termed the north chargers "a souped-up bunch of guys that have real team unity." Among the 25 stars is another Troppmann, a quarterback by the name of Jim, son of the coach. It was this same father-son combination which was instrumental in Redwood High School winning the championship of the Marin Athletic League last season.

On the coaching lines for the practice drills Bob isn't coaching Jim, however. Bob is handling the line and Berry the backs.

Coach Troppmann said the North team has been hitting hard in the last few scrimmages and only one member of the team has suffered an injury, although a minor one. Quarterback Del Henry of Merced High suffered a slight sprain in his ankle but will be ready by game time.

ON TELEVISION

The game will be televised live by KTVU, Channel 2, Thursday, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Troppmann said the North team would hold two drills today and another tomorrow before the showdown game gets under way. Present plans call for Bill Hunt of Carlmont High to start at quarterback, but young Troppmann will be alternated at the signal calling spot frequently.

Jim and John Baccitich, guard from St. Ignatius High in San Francisco, were selected by their teammates to co-captain the North stars.

Coach Tropp called Baccitich a future All-American who moves his 217 pounds "like a cat." The offensive guard and defensive linebacker is headed for USC to play ball.

The North coaches feel that Hunt is quicker than Troppmann and can throw the long passes, but Troppmann is probably better on ball handling and the short pass. So it looks like the North will have an alternating double threat in the quarterback spot.

PLATOON SYSTEM

Berry and Troppmann plan on using a full platoon system, 11 men on offense and 11 on defense. "These boys came down to play ball and we feel they all should play," added Troppmann.

Although the starting teams are not officially picked yet, Troppmann listed the tentative opening offense and defense, by what the coaches have seen so far.

Keep Your Fingers Crossed When Giants Go On Rugged Road Trip

CONNOLLY

Keep your fingers crossed for the next two days while the S.F. Giants, with eight victories in a row, tackle the Phils in what could become a screaming, riotous two-game series at Candlestick Park.

Then after the next two games, cross your arms and legs and pray, and muscle up for shock or surprise.

The Giants hit the road on a murderous trip that finds them playing 16 games in 18 days.

Starting in Chicago on Aug. 2, 3, 4 they are guests of the Cubs, who will be serving Mickey Finns, bumble bee hotcakes or cobra on toast.

On Aug. 5, 6, 7 the bucking Houston Colts will attempt to dismount, dismantle or hog-tie the Giants in a three-game series.

After a day of rest, spent mostly travelling, the Phils hope to clobber the S.F. club in a four-game joust in the "city of the dead." This series could be a rest or send the Giants to a rest home.

RIGHT IN the middle again we find the Cincy Reds hosting our gang in three games, Aug. 13, 14, 15. For a chaser following the Reds comes another three-game series with St. Louis on Aug. 16, 17, 18.

If you can put together any tougher a rap for the Giants than this schedule break, I'll stand still, and light a candle on the outcome.

The only breather in these 16 games could be at Houston and I wouldn't say that even living in this Texas town that length of time is fun.

But the schedule pattern set for the Giants is the test, not only of endurance and courage, but of pride and fight.

They say lightning never strikes twice in the same place. We'll soon find out.

AUGUST 1962 was an interesting month for the Giants who won 18 games and lost 10.

Oddly enough all 18 games were won by the starting pitchers Juan Marichal, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell and Billy Pierce.

Through the month of August 1962, Sanford won 6 and lost 0 with 2 complete games.

Marichal won 4 and 2 with 5 complete games.

O'Dell was 3 and 3 with 5 complete games.

Pierce was 5 and 1 and 3 complete games.

THE STARTING staff in 1962 during the month of August won 18 and lost 6 with 15 completed games. The only totals not accounted for by the four regular starters was a defeat each for Bob Bolin, Don Larsen, Stu Miller and Mike McCormick.

As the Giants are about to enter August play we say they are winning while not playing anywhere near their top form. But it is good enough to propel them into an enviable position—that of chasing the leaders, without having the pressure on themselves.

To pin point the August form of Jack Sanford let us just say that he beat the Pirates, Mets and Milwaukee at Candlestick Park and the Cubs, Milwaukee and Phils on the road.

PIERCE BEAT the Cubs, Phils and Dodgers at Candlestick and the Cubs and Phils on the road. He was knocked out and lost a game at Milwaukee against Warren Spahn and needed help to win Dodger game.

Marichal was really the most effective pitcher in August 1962 although he lost twice while winning four. He was knocked out and lost to Pittsburgh at Candlestick, then won from the Phillies and Dodgers, lost to Milwaukee, then beat the Mets in N.Y. and the Braves in S.F.

O'Dell pitched some good games last August. Lost to the Cubs, then beat Pittsburgh. Had an easy game against the Dodgers, then was knocked out and lost in Milwaukee. He then came back to shutout the Phils but was knocked out by Milwaukee for a 3 and 3 record for the month.

So for the record the Giants look promising as August sneaks up on them. If they can win playing up to only 50 per cent of their potential in the last eight games, what make you think they can't catch on fire and sweep a lot of so-called invincible teams off their feet?

I'm one second guesser who thinks they can do it and go on and inherit another miracle for 1963.

Palmer's Bogey On Strange 17th Wins Western Playoff

CHICAGO (AP)—A bogey was worth $11,000 to Arnold Palmer in the strangest putting hole ever to confound golfing greats locked in a major tournament.

Arnie took the Western Open title and its accompanying check as a gift from Julius Boros and Jack Nicklaus in an 18-hole playoff yesterday.

Suffice to say that Arnie won by shooting 33-37—70 over the demanding Beverly Country Club course and its par 36-35—71.

Boros, with 36-35—71, and Nicklaus, 37-36—73, each pocketed $4,450.

Palmer boosted his winnings to $96,955, giving him a shot at becoming the first golfer to win $100,000 in a season.

The playoff can be capsuled on the par 3,205-yard 17th hole with its tricky, rolling green. Two successive birdies had helped pull National Open champion Boros into a tie with Palmer at the 16th, each with 61 strokes, while the Masters' and PGA king, Nicklaus, seemed left at the post with 63.

At the 17th, all used No. 2 irons off the tee.

Boros went over the green into the crowd and deep rough. Nicklaus put his shot five feet from the cup. Palmer pulled his into a trap on the left side of the green.

Palmer exploded from the trap and rolled 35 feet past the hole. Boros' chip was on the green but 40 feet short.

Boros putted three feet past the hole. Palmer putted four feet past. Nicklaus rimmed the cup and rolled nearly four feet beyond.

Palmer dropped his for a bogey 4. Nicklaus again missed, also taking a 4. Boros missed getting a double bogey 5.

Two putts by Palmer and three each by the other two brought the match to the last hole with Arnie holding a one stroke edge over Boros.

Nicklaus was out of it.

Boros and Palmer were on the 596-yard 18th in three. Palmer missed a 12 footer and settled for his par 5. Boros had a sharp-breaking 7 footer and missed, also taking 5.

That was it.

Commissioner Warns 49ers Of Gambling

MORAGA (AP) — Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, recited some facts and figures yesterday for his old hometown team, the San Francisco 49ers.

In general, Rozelle told the 49ers in his annual "don't gamble" talk, that keeping his nose clean is the best insurance for a player to keep playing in the NFL.

The 49ers have a holdout in guard Ted Connolly and Rozelle commented that a player like Connolly, if he were to play out his option, would be a free agent. But, the commissioner said, if a player plays out his option and jumps to another league, "he will lose his pension benefits." Connolly alleges, through his attorney, that this is a new clause in NFL contracts and that the clause is illegal.

Also starring in the championship victory were Rich Schau, Gary Hanson and Ron Mick, all with run-scoring hits.

Corona, a star all year with the Casa Marin team, wound up the season with a .600 batting average. The ace pitcher of the squad, Corona averaged slightly higher than two strike outs per inning over the year.

Handy Sandy Snaps Slump

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Handy Sandy Koufax, performing a thorough clean-up job for the Los Angeles Dodgers, has pulled the National League leaders out of their longest losing streak in two months.

Koufax pitched a five-hitter and posted his 17th victory in a 6-2 decision over surging Philadelphia that ended the Dodgers' losing streak at four games and maintained their 4½-game bulge over the pursuing Giants.

Winless for 13 days as the Dodgers struggled through their worst skid since early June, Koufax pitched smoothly if not spectacular, with home run support from Tommy Davis and Willie Davis.

The 27-year-old left-hander has a 17-4 record—tied with Juan Marichal of San Francisco for the most victories in the majors. He is No. 1 in strikeouts with 195 in 194⅔ and in complete games with 15 while maintaining a brilliant 1.89 earned run average.

San Francisco slipped past idle St. Louis into second place as Willie Mays hammered his second straight game-winning homer and gave the Giants a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh.

In the only other N.L. game scheduled, Milwaukee's Warrent Spahn posted his 340th victory, with homers by Hank Aaron and Lee Maye providing the power, 8-2 over Cincinnati.

YANKS BLANKED

Kansas City shut out the American League leading New York Yankees 5-0, Washington knocked off the second-place Chicago White Sox 2-1, Baltimore edged Detroit 2-1, Boston downed Minnesota 7-5 and the Los Angeles Angels walloped Cleveland 11-0.

Spahn, slowed recently because of a sore elbow, picked up his first victory since July 7, checking the Reds on six hits. The 42-year-old left-hander, 13-5, was touched for homers by Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson. John Tsitouris, 7-4, started for Cincinnati and was a loser by the time he had pitched to four batters.

With one out Tsitouris walked Ed Mathews and Aaron and Maye followed with consecutive homers. Aaron drove in two runs with an eighth inning single to raise his RBI total to 86, tops in the majors.

46-Pound Chinook Salmon Caught; Bass Galore Off East Bay Shore

STEVENS

Bring forth the laurel wreath and place it on the head of Alfred Frederickson; crown him king for Saturday. Al hooked, played and boated a beautiful 46-pound Chinook salmon while fishing aboard the good ship Sea Bee along the Duxbury Reef. Doris Marshall, who verified that report, also informed that the Whirlaway had docked Sunday with 19 or 20 nice salmon.

Asked what caused so many cars and fishermen along the shore from Golden Gate Fields to below Ashby Avenue, Berkeley, Doris explained that the stripers were infesting that whole area. "They are even getting quite a few bass from the pier along with some smelt," she explained. I can always count on Doris Marshall of the Berkeley Pier Bait Shop to pass along the true status quo.

Ditto Lee Anderson's Bait Shop in Oakland. I learned that the boat R.S.P. took limits both Saturday and Sunday to 10 pounds while trolling under the Bridge. Same thing for the Troller. Incidentally, I was informed that most of the fish (bass) taken in that area were taken on Hula Skirts and Pet Spoons with pork rind tail baits.

THERE SEEMS to be no question but what the stripers are still hanging around the Alcatraz-Treasure Island - Yellow Bluff Racoon Strait—and the mouth of the Alameda Estuary.

Unfortunately, the big bad winds have kept the major portion of the San Pablo from scoring. I talked to three spots on the Marin side of the bay and received nothing but lamentations.

The fact that the party boat skippers are ultra anxious to get their clients fish is proved, I think, by the report from Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor that the Sunfish drove all the way from Crockett to the Alcatraz sector to limit out for his clients on Wednesday and Thursday and probably would have repeated on Friday except that he broke his prop and had to limp home.

I STOPPED in at Markeley's Cove on Lake Berryessa Sunday morning and chatted with Jim Berkhorst, an avid angler in his spare time. Jim reported black bass fishing quite slow, but raved over the really fine catches made of steelhead the past week. "Getting 'em all the way from the dam—using mostly Ford Fenders and three-ounce sinkers," he said.

So fishing locally is definite-all to the good providing you play in the lower sections of the bay. There must be another 46-pound salmon outside. So goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

He appeared in one game for two innings and was tagged for seven hits. He didn't allow a walk nor did he strike out a batter, but he suffered another loss, making his seasonal record 2-4.

Tyler On Torrid Bat Spree For Dons Of Marin

Hamish Tyler, infielder for Dons of Marin semi-pro baseball team, is on a hitting streak that would make any professional envious with 12 hits in his last 16 times at bat.

Sunday, in a practice game against Mill Valley, Tyler had a perfect day with three hits in as many at-bats and yesterday added three more safeties in four tries although the Dons lost to Riordan, 7-6.

Sunday, the Dons blasted Mill Valley 12-1 behind Steve Miller's two hit pitching. Beside Tyler, other Don bat stars were Hank Ryan with three for four, Dennis Hannigan with a two-run double and Lorry Galassi with a two-run triple.

GIVEN GOOD CHANGE

All-Stars Just May Upset The Packers

CHICAGO (AP)—It's no easy task for a group of inexperienced youngsters to go out and defeat the champions of the National Football League, but that's what the College All-Stars have in mind when they meet the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night.

The 1963 All-Stars, once again coached by Otto Graham, have an excellent chance of upsetting the Packers despite the fact that Green Bay will be anywhere from a two to a three touchdown favorite.

If they have nothing else in their favor, there is the fact that the pros have never been able to win five straight. A string of four straight losses was snapped in 1943 when the All-Stars defeated Washington 27-7. Another string of four losses fell in 1955 with a 30-27 victory over Cleveland. The collegians now are out to break another four-game losing streak.

This year, however, the All-Stars have more than history going for them.

Graham, one of the all-time great quarterbacks in pro football, took over the All-Star coaching reins in 1958 with a 35-19 victory over Detroit. It was the last for the All-Stars.

The All-Stars did it on a combination of the running of Bobby Mitchell, the field goal kicking of Bobby Conrad, the passing of Jim Ninowski, and an adequate defense.

The saying has been that a team must succeed in the air to beat the pros. Last year the All-Stars completed 14 passes for 201 yards but fell before Green Bay's 21-point splurge in the final quarter, 42-20.

Green Bay passed for 255 yards in that game but the Packers also pickeup 125 yards rushing to only 30 for the All-Stars. Actually, it was Green Bay's running threat which kept the All-Stars off balance and allowed Bart Starr to have five touchdown passes.

This year, the All-Stars have four quarterbacks who can both run and pass. They are Heisman award winner Terry Baker of Oregon State; Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin; Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian and Glynn Griffing of Mississippi.

They also have speed and power in the backfield. Larry Ferguson of Iowa, Bob Paremore of Florida A&M, Charlie Mitchell of Washington and Roger Kochman of Penn State have the speed. Ben Wilson of Southern California and Bill Thornton of Nebraska are capable of supplying power.

Bob Jencks of Miami, Ohio, can boot field goals and proved it with one from 27 yards and another from 40 yards in a 13-12 scrimmage loss to the Chicago Bears last week.

Visit To Supermarket Tops Visitors List

Supermarkets were added to the list of tourist attractions last week when five women from India, delegates to the 18th World's Conference of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, visited Marin County.

The five were enroute home from the conference which was held in Denmark June 18-29 and all were dressed in their Girl Guide uniform, flowing royal blue chiffon saris.

LOCAL HOSTESSES were asked to entertain them for the day and drive them to Marin's prime tourist attraction, Muir Woods. However, following lunch at the Mill Valley home of Mrs. Lyman Emerson, the group said they would like to see a supermarket and spent a good portion of the afternoon inspecting the frozen foods, hair setting racks, notion counters and the extensive displays of kitchen gadgets.

ALL OF THE women have positions of leadership in the Girl Guides in India. They are: Mrs. Lata Tandon, a state commissioner, from Lucknow; Mrs. Leela Anjanappa, state commissioner from Mysore; Mrs. Vidya Rani Khanna, state commissioner, New Delhi; Mrs. Nalini M. Pathak, assistant state commissioner, Maharashtra; and Mrs. Zenobia Rustam Ranji, state commissioner, Andra Pradesh, and member of the executive committee.

Following their stay here they flew to Los Angeles where their chief ambition was to visit Disneyland.

Oh yes, they liked Muir woods.

Hamburger Abominable, Shorts Shocking Find Frenchwomen After U.S. Auto Tour

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two young Frenchwomen who have dripdried their way through an 18-week, 15,000-mile auto tour of the United States concluded that:

The hamburger is an American classic but doesn't deserve to be, the way it's cooked. "Except in major cities, your food is terrible."

THERE'S A BIG difference in motorists in the East and West. "They're wilder in the West."

Women, especially plump women, should not travel in Bermuda shorts or slacks.

The hospitality and friendliness of the U.S.A. are unbounded.

American men are less flirtatious than the French.

American tourists should appreciate American sights.

The two are Princess Pauline Murat, 31, Paris-born, and Floriane Brossette, 33, of Lyons. Miss Murat, a small brunette, is the granddaughter of the Marquis de Chasseloup-Laubat, one of France's first race drivers, and is a descendant of Joachim Murat, King of Naples, who was the Emperor Napoleon's brother-in-law.

SHE HAS LOGGED more than 50,000 driving miles through Europe, Asia and Africa, and says she is the first woman to have driven from Paris to Moscow. That trip was in 1958 after the route through Czechoslovakia and Poland had opened.

Miss Brossette, a blue-eyed blonde, is a former Red Cross ambulance driver and has toured Europe and Africa by sports car. The two shared the driving on the 33-state tour.

The trip was partly for pleasure, partly pure business. They made movies for a documentary on U.S. sights and people, the princess made lecture appearances before women's groups to talk of the changing role of the Frenchwoman and will now write her impressions of America for the French magazine, Realites. And the 15,000 mile trip was a test one for the car.

THE TWO KEPT a budget. Their average motel bill per night was $7 to $9; meals ran $14 to $15 each day for both; their other expenditures were for fuel, film, souvenirs, a few gifts and now and then a wardrobe replacement as wash-and-wear wore.

The Americans may have the image of the Frenchwoman always in a bikini, but that, said the princess is strictly for the international set lolling on the Riviera. "And a Frenchwoman wouldn't think of traveling in Bermudas or slacks."

"WE WERE SHOCKED at all the women . . . and the men for that matter . . . traveling in Bermudas. Even elderly women and women with big backsides—like so," said the princess. She drew an unflattering picture in the air.

The two agreed that as French appetites spoiled to French cuisine go, the hamburger is abominable.

"In the big cities, the food was excellent," said Miss Murat. "But along the road, it was hamburger, hamburger, hamburger. Always too much grease. I never took so many Alka-Seltzers in my life."

The two said driving was easier in the United States than in Europe because motorist are "safer and more law-abiding" and the roads are well-marked. Easier, that is, except for the freeways of Los Angeles.

"SEVENTY MILES an hour bumper to bumper," said Miss Brossette. "Whew!"

In France, the two said, if a couple of girls travel alone they are the subject of whistles and offers of company from the men. Only one such incident occurred in the whole U.S. trip, they said.

THE VASTNESS OF the United States and the ever-changing scenery from New England to the Pacific Northwest to the desert to the Rockies to the bayou country impressed them.

Pre-Teen Years Are Often Considered Most Difficult

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

The pre-teen years often are considered quite difficult. This probably is more true for parents than for the youngsters.

Some typical reactions of pre-teen children:

—The mother of John, 11, suggested that they go to the movies together on Saturday. She was upset when he said he planned to go swimming with friends.

—FRED, 12, told his father he wanted to go hiking with his boy scout troup instead of on a fishing trip with the family. His father was surprised since they always had so much fun on these trips.

—Ten-year-old Ann's room was messy and she didn't seem to care about her looks. She preferred wearing dungarees to dresses. Her parents were distressed that she was becoming a tomboy.

THESE ACTIONS and attitudes are difficult for parents to accept. But the children want to be with their peers. They seem to rebel against the family. They appear to intentionally reject authority just to prove it can be done.

Up to this point the child almost completely has been dependent. He has enjoyed spending time with his parents. He has shown only minor signs of independence. Now the change seems to be quite dramatic.

The natural reaction of many parents is to block this development. They will either exert more authority or perhaps extend themselves to show their love and affection. The child reacts by becoming more intent on proving his independence. He becomes stubborn.

PARENTS SHOULD realize that this is part of growing up. They too went through this stage of development, and should accept the child for what he is. This doesn't mean to drop all standards. It does mean to administer authority with understanding.

Allow the child to experiment. He can learn a great deal by trial and error. His curiosity, restlessness, loud behavior, and daring should be guided into safe and satisfying activities. He wants to join clubs and organizations. He may even organize a two-man club. He is seeking status and recognition.

THE PRE-TEEN years surely are trying times for parents. The best approach is to recognize that most of this behavior is normal. Although the child seems to resent love and attention, he needs them as much as ever. There is no need to permit him to become disrespectful or extremely demanding. He should have the time and opportunity to pursue his private activities. If this is arranged, he is more likely to show cooperation with the family.

Proper guidance at this time can avoid serious trouble in the future.

Housewives Offer Suggestions On How To Improve Products

By GAY PAULEY

The nation's housewives never run low on ideas for improving the manufacturers' products.

The latest list of "why don't theys?" from a consumer consultant panel arrived today. The women offered suggestions ranging from a plea for soup without onions to man-sized paper handkerchiefs packaged in masculine-looking containers.

National Family Opinion, Toledo, Ohio, compiled these "why don't theys?" from letters written by the women consultants. The firm says it has 85,000 homemakers enrolled as part-time advisers.

One woman wondered why there weren't more of the popular soups made without onions for those who cannot eat the "tasty" little fellows.

THE ONE WHO wanted the man-sized hankies indicated the packaging of most of those now available are in feminine-looking boxes.

Other "why don't they?" requests:

—Make a spray can dispenser for grease and oil to be used for baking purposes.

—Make bottles of beverages shorter and wider so they will fit under the average size trays or shelves in refrigerators.

—Put flour in cloth bags as they used to. The cloth was useful in numerous ways when the flour was gone.

—Make elastic that will last as long as the garments that it is sewn into.

—Package lard and other shortenings in pre-measured units, as they do for butter and margarine.

—Use tubes to pack butter or margarine for picnic and travel use to simplify sandwich-making.

—PACKAGE INDIVIDUAL servings of instant tea or coffee. The writer suggested such packages would be easy to carry to work and with a little saccharine also enclosed in the container, a boon to dieters.

—Make windshield wipers of black metal only. At certain angles of the sun and car, sun reflection on chromium is blinding.

—Put non-metal, perhaps plastic, stocking fasteners on girdles because many persons are allergic to metals.

—Invent a better toothpaste tube. With a family of "middle squishers" something new would be welcome.

—MAKE A CLEAR plastic foot feed on the sewing machine so one can see when the bobbin threaded is almost gone.

—Fit upright freezers with roll-out baskets on the shelves. If a freezer is at all full, frozen packages continually slide out when the freezer door is opened.

Try Freezing Some Melon For Winter

Families with home freezers can take advantage of the bountiful supplies of melons on markets this summer and early fall by freezing some for use later in the year—for dessert, salad or appetizer.

Sweet, juicy, ripe watermelon flesh may be cut into cubes or balls, placed in freezer containers, covered with sirup and frozen. Watermelon preserved this way might be used as a novelty first-course for Christmas dinner, for example. Its attractive red fits the holiday color scheme. A large whole watermelon need not be too much to buy at this season's prices even for a small family, if the part not eaten fresh is preserved by freezing.

Cantaloups, Honeydews, Casabas and Persian melons also may be successfully frozen. Commercially frozen packages of melon balls usually include several kinds of melon for variety in color and flavor. This is a possibility for home-freezing, too, when many kinds are abundant.

Georgia Governor Creates Board On Status Of Women

ATLANTA (UPI) — Gov. Carl Sanders announced he has created a 100-member governor's commission on the status of women.

Sanders said the commission will study the health and welfare of women, the problems of the working woman, problems of the urban and suburban homemaker and equal status for women.

"The purpose of the commission is not only to provide Georgia women with a voice and forum for discussing the problems of women, but also to establish effective machinery for formulating and achieving solutions to those problems," he said.

NAKA OF ITALY creates the complete look for fall with this costume. Yves St. Laurent- In Sherwood Forest

PARIS (UPI)—Robin Hood — complete with mid-thigh boots, highwayman - style hat and suede jerkins — marched through the autumn collection of Yves St. Laurent today.

St. Laurent, the "Boy Wonder" designer, 27, put his mannequins into the Sherwood Forest look including page boy hairdos.

The mid-thigh boots were worn over skintight shaggy tweed slacks and matching loose jackets or suede short coats.

WITH DAYTIME tweed suits, the St. Laurent models still wore Robin Hood suede or felt hats with turned up brim in back and heavy dark wool socks to the knee.

Sometimes their shoes—even with brocaded cocktail dresses —were soft flat-heeled ankle-high bootlets without laces or buttons, another Robin Hood touch.

With tweed suits and even daytime dresses and evening wear the models wore giant heavy chains, sometimes holding huge pendants, as on the costume of some medieval king.

ST. LAURENT kept his fast-selling Norman peasant sleeve of last season, full and cuffed at the wrist, and his cap-sleeved jumpers over long-sleeved blouses, which also contributed to the Robin Hood feeling.

Even the bridal outfit, traditionally shown at the end of each Paris collection, was out of a medieval scene. The model wore a high-necked gown of white brocade, hanging loose and full, with cap sleeves over a long-sleeved blouse of ruby-red velvet. A small red velvet cap perched atop her head.

YVES S. LAURENT not only put the 1964 woman back in the middle ages, he spurned the bosom.

There wasn't a low neck in the house. Suede blouses with his tweed suits were high-necked. Cocktail and evening wear swathed the models to their chins.

The audience of press and private customers, including dancer Zizi Jeanmarie appeared to like the young designer's collection.

FROM THE minute the show opened with those country outfits of Robin Hood boots over tweed slacks, the audience applauded almost every one of the 132 outfits.

St. Laurent's skirts just covered the knee, except for his tweed suits which were a half inch longer. Their jackets were fitted loosely and stopped at the top of the hip. Some had collars, some buttoned up the back. Many had his usual open collar like on a man's sport shirt.

AS EXAMPLES, a brown-and-orange tweed pullover top with sport shirt collar was worn over tight matching tweed slacks. Mid-thigh brown suede flat-heeled boots buttoned behind the knee. A Robin Hood-style hat was of brown suede.

Another model wore a brown-and-white tweed suit with sports shirt collar, a chocolate brown hood covering her hair and chin, heavy brown wool stockings, and flat brown suede shoes.

Almost all of the daytime suits were shown with flat shoes.

CREATED IN a light wool-nylon fabric this cape notes city chic with a country flair for fall 1963. The simplicity of the design is accentuated by the three-button front closing, the small collar and the contrasting braid trim. The cape topper was presented in London by the Charles Macintosh group of companies. (UPI photo)

Large Dogs Are Gaining In Popularity

CHICAGO (UPI) — There are signs that large dogs, after being rejected the past few years in favor of apartment-sized canines, are staging a comeback.

The German shepherd, on the basis of a 13 per cent gain, displaced the poodle during the past year as the most exhibited dog in championship competition, according to a poll (by the Quaker Oats Co.).

The increasing popularity of big city "K-9 corps" and other factors connected with protection of life and property combined to hoist the shepherd into the top position.

In the champion competition category, poodles dropped to second place despite an increase of four per cent, while dachshunds showed a six per cent loss to retain third place and cocker spaniels registered a five per cent loss to remain in fourth spot.

Poodles, however, continue to be the most popular dog in number of stud book registrations.

Another big dog, the boxer, solidified his fifth place exhibition ranking with an increase of four per cent. Collies showed a small gain to hold the sixth position.

The powerful doberman clung to seventh place, holding on with a minor gain, while great danes registered a six per cent gain to strengthen their grip on eighth position. Chihuahuas stayed in ninth, with shetlands moving up one place to tenth.

BOOTY-FUL

A booty full of elegance is spotlighted on the London fashion scene for fall 1963. The cocktail boots are designed with the exquisite combination of white leather and white lacy embroidery which reaches to the ankle with a delicate scallop edge. Shoe designer Edward Rayne featured these boots at the London Fashion Designers show. (UPI photo)

Grandma Made Better Coffee

What this country needs is a better cup of coffee, the kind grandma used to make.

Coffee growers are the first to agree.

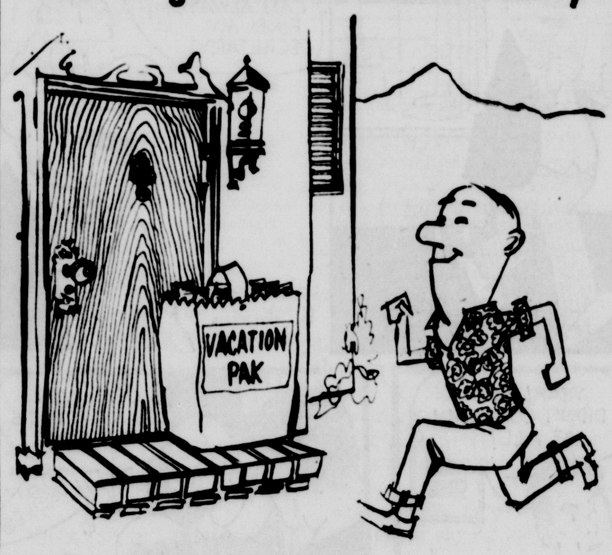

A tireless band of scientists, private investigators and dedicated coffee drinkers have been on the prowl for 10 years to discover the secret of her brew. They follow up every clue.

"We know more than we ever did about coffee, coffee making and the ways equipment give best satisfaction. But how did past generations with simple methods get better results?" asked Dr. S. E. Lockhart, scientific director of the Coffee Brewing Institute, a non-profit organization supported by coffee growing countries.

The institute's laboratories are equipped for study with every conceivable type coffee pot.

"We train the armed forces, restaurant groups, coffee salesmen, show films to ladies clubs, home ec groups, schools. But the large variety of equipment used make it difficult to get the message across," says Lockhart.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Not All Finesses Will Do You Good When Playing Bridge Game

There's nothing most of us like better than a chance to get something for nothing, and at the bridge table this usually means a finesse.

Still, not all finesses are equally useful even though they may look equally enticing.

Opening lead — ♠ J

South won the first trick with the ace of spades and immediately tried the heart finesse. East took the king of hearts and returned a spade to dummy's king.

SECOND SPADE

South got rid of a diamond on the second spade trick, drew another trump, and finessed successfully through the king of diamonds.

But then the slam still depended on a finesse in clubs, and South happened to guess the wrong way to finesse.

"Bad luck," you may say. Or perhaps, "Bad guessing." It was neither; it was actually bad management.

NEEDED FINESSE

South needed the diamond finesse to make his slam, but he didn't need the heart finesse and he didn't have to guess the right way to finesse in clubs.

After winning the first trick with the ace of spades, South should immediately lead the jack of diamonds to find out whether or not that finesse will work.

When the diamond holds, South leads the low diamond to dummy's ace, cashes the king of spades to get rid of the queen of diamonds, ruffs a spade, leads a trump to dummy's ace, and ruffs dummy's last diamond.

ELIMINATES

This eliminates spades and diamonds from the North and South hands. Declarer then gives up a trick to the king of hearts and waits for the return with his pencil poised to score the slam.

If East returns a club, declarer gets a free finesse; if East returns anything else, dummy ruffs while South discards a club.

When possible, get your opponents to take your finesses for you. It's worth a little careful timing of your play to turn a guess into a sure thing.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, July 30, the 211th day of 1963 with 154 to follow.

The moon is approaching new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1619, the first American representative assembly convened at Jamestown, Va.

In 1916, German saboteurs blew up a munitions plant outside Jersey City, N. J., and two people were killed. Damages amounted to 22 million dollars.

A thought for the day — Winston Churchill said: "If we open a quarrel between the past and present, we will find that we have lost the future."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Woodacre Club's Record Deserves A Big Bouquet

The pioneer self-reliant spirit of the American West is not dead. And every so often somewhere in Marin County we turn up a refreshing proof of that fact.

A case in point is the record of the Woodacre Improvement Club in tackling a sizeable recreation program, of value to its own immediate area and to other areas as well, and in putting the thing across on a basis of community responsibility and effort with no request for tax handouts.

This doesn't mean any unwillingness on our part, or their part, to recognize the need for taxation and the benefits of getting tax money where such is the logically indicated course. But it is warming to see that in such a matter as a recreation program it can still be possible to work directly in the old-log-hewing pioneer style.

Al Giddings as membership chairman sounded a call to arms by letter which detailed decisions of a club general meeting last March 20.

Projects were listed and Giddings lined up with club president Kurt Kalemba in an agressive "let's go bankrupt or make it" campaign. This took in a lot of things, to be financed by memberships. At that time the club had 125 members and during the year previous only seven had come in.

Things didn't look so good. Fifteen members moved away while another 15 quit because they felt costs were going to be too high. But the membership committee came up with 50 new members which boosted the total to 147.

What was being achieved meanwhile, with Giddings doubling as construction foreman?

Two tennis courts have been built, of championship caliber. A new swimming pool has been provided, this one for adults to supplement the 50-year-old pool for juniors. A clubhouse accommodating 175 has been built, allowing little theater performances. The baseball field has been immensely improved and is now being used by three leagues.

Improvement of parking facilities has been finished. There is a basketball practice facility and also horseshoe pits. Work is still in progress.

Now back to memberships. A yearly fee of $60 covers all use of extensive recreational facilities for a whole family—you can't beat that for a bargain, as has been found by members from such points as San Anselmo, Fairfax, Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Nicasio, Forest Knolls, Lagunitas and even San Francisco, though the majority live in Woodacre of course.

Money from memberships has been supplemented by such items as $1,000 gained by a July 4 fair. One way and another it's clear that bankruptcy is no longer even a remote possibility and in fact the club is thriving, though it hopes to work up to 200 members and be "in the black" on a basis of their fees alone.

If this works out as a free advertisement luring some more members in, that's fine with us. The whole deal is a wonderful achievement loaded with benefits including those of the spirit.

Death Stalks Marin Jungle

Nature is not a gentle lady. Most of her creatures live by tooth and claw. It is a harsh life into which most are born.

Our suburban communities are really primitive jungles. Hawks strike terror in small furred and feathered animals by day. After dark, the owls take over. That charming little squirrel probably robbed a bird's nest for his breakfast.

Raccoons prowl wet places in search of frogs to eat. Skunks hunt down bird's nests and are hungry for rodents. Even the delightful hummingbird will attack and even kill other hummers encroaching on its own vital food supply of flowers.

Nature is often cruel. But it is cruelty with a purpose. It is a weeding out process by which all species are improved and made stronger and swifter.

* * *

In Bouquets and Brickbats Saturday, posey fancier Victor Bello of Novato was congratulated as sole Marin winner at the Sonoma Fair Flower Show. He wasn't. Gerold Cahill of 8 Pasadena Ave., San Anselmo, won three blue ribbons and two red ribbons for his dahlias.

NOTHING LIKE A VACATION

It's Great To Get Back—But Just Where Have You Been?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing quite like a vacation to teach a fellow his place in the office.

It was Smythe's first day back after three weeks spent listening to his wife and building sand castles for the kiddies at good old Quagmire Cottages by-the-sea.

Smythe was the first man into the office. He went to the washstand, combed his hair, straigtened his necktie, practiced in the mirror his "it's great to be back again" grin.

IN THE NEXT hour, 37 fellow workers passed Smythe's paper-bare desk.

"Glad to see you back — been sick?" asked 25.

The other 12 made such remarks as:

"If I'd of known you'd of been out this long, I'd of sent you a get well card."

AFTER EACH remark — nobody asked him about his vacation — Smythe made a lonely trip to the water cooler.

At 10 o'clock he went over to report to the chief accountant.

"I guess I better start catching up with the situation," said Smythe. "Who handled my work while I was gone?"

"What work?" inquired the chief accountant.

After lunch Smythe resharpened his pencils until 3 o'clock when he received a surprise summons from the big boss.

Handing him a cigar, the big boss said:

"Smythe, you've been doing a splendid job for the firm the last few weeks, and I just want to let you know firsthand there'll be an extra $20 on your next paycheck."

"But, sir, I've been on vacation for the last three weeks."

"Aren't you Ed Smythe from sales?"

"No, sir, I'm Jim Smythe in accounting."

The big boss reached out, plucked back his cigar and said:

"My mistake, Smythe. But remember, no matter what department you're in—keep up the good work."

Upon leaving the office Smythe walked alone to his favorite tavern.

"Well, well, well—welcome back, Mr. Smythe," said the bartender. "Sure did miss you. Did you have a nice vacation?"

Smythe leaned his forehead on the shiny mahogany bar and broke into tears. He was very very late getting home that night.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'No Tax Boost' Greatest Need

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

This is in reference to the letter from Esther M. Dearth, president Marin Visitors Bureau.

Is it absolutely vital and necessary that something additional be planned or started for the Civic Center?

Many of us feel that there is more than plenty there now. Before starting auditoriums, meeting halls, etc., it would be well to look around at present facilities.

What the taxpayer needs most is no increase in taxes which are already extremely high. It would seem that the people who are in Marin now —paying the taxes—should be the first to be considered and not potential visitors.

Marin County is generously endowed by nature which may be enjoyed without big lodge buildings and such.

What Marin County needs most is assurance that the homes they enjoy can continue to be enjoyed and not taxed to the point where the burden becomes more than the average person can bear.

Behr Challenged About Bodega

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Supervisor Peter Behr took another crack at PG&E's plans for the Bodega Bay atomic plant with the transparent explanation that he has "an obligation to speak up on behalf of his constituents" on matters affecting their health and welfare.

Mr. Behr has an even greater obligation to his constituents; that is, to be certain of his facts before taking a stand on their "behalf." He does his constituents and all of Marin County a disservice by not having done his homework on this matter.

The facts about this project are readily available to anyone seeking them — but Mr. Behr apparently didn't follow this obvious course. His 2½-page "statement" read at last week's board meeting contained at least two dozen errors of fact, reasoning and judgment.

In his statement Behr criticizes the Sonoma County board of supervisors for approving the location of the plant in their county—for no other reason than that they did not consult him first.

Then he grandiosely waves aside the California Public Utilities Commission's approval of the atomic plant, saying that the project "cannot be considered a matter of necessity" although that Commission has issued—and several times reconfirmed—the Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity for construction of the plant.

Finally, Behr would attempt to make it totally unnecessary for the Atomic Energy Commission to bother holding public hearings to examine the safety aspects of the plant, as is their legal responsibility. Instead, he proposes a "write-in campaign" to the supervisors in which Marin residents are invited to conduct a "popularity contest" about the plant instead of looking to the expert appraisal of technically competent AEC people for a decision.

"We have a duty to go on record against construction of an atomic power plant at Bodega Head," says our all-knowing supervisor in concluding his statement to his fellow supervisors—giving no other reason for this decision than his own typically arrogant appraisal of the situation.

I submit that Supervisor Behr instead has a duty to know what he's talking about before making any statement to the Board. The other supervisors consistently have turned a deaf ear to Behr's demands for action on this matter. They have troubled to avail themselves of fact, instead of being swayed by emotion and irresponsible statements.

They have shown responsibility and good judgment in their actions, as well as great patience in dealing with a politically ambitious associate as he makes a grandstand play out of the atomic power controversy instead of trying to make a responsible contribution to public understanding and knowledge about this important technological advance.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was interested in the letter of Pat Smallman in the I-J about having constructed a porch swing.

Last year while visiting my mother in Tennessee I found the porch swing, which must have been at least 30 years old, in a sad state of disrepair and too far gone to be rehabilitated. As she found, they cannot be bought anywhere.

My solution was to get a solid backed front seat from a junked auto, remove the adjustable base, and attach 1" x 3" oak boards to which the supporting chains were fastened.

Much more comfortable than the wooden swing which it replaced, though of course it should be sheltered from the elements.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A lad in a rich Main Line suburb came home one evening in a lather to report, "They've turned up a wonderful new magic record player at school. You don't have to plug it in any place. You don't even need electricity to make it play. All you have to do is wind it up with a crank!"

In a crowded department store a man dropped a shopping list his wife had given him, and spent several anxious moments retrieving it from under the feet of the jostling throng. Not until he was out on the sidewalk did he discover that the trampled-upon paper he had snatched up was not, alas, his shopping list, but a printed reminder the executive office evidently had passed out to every employee. It read, in big, red, capital letters: "Remember: try to sell last year's merchandise first!"

Ernest Borgnine spotted a spiffy new motorboat being towed on a trailer. The boat bore on its stern the name "Instant Fun," and under this the line, "Just add water."

The Country Parson

"The young man who's learning expensive tastes had better be developing some good work habits, too."

Just What Have The Schools Done Lately For Oldsters?

SCHOOL TAX and bond elections have been taking a beating for the past few months in Marin County. While the phenomenon isn't new, the reasons why a relatively high income area will not support the schools in the manner to which school boards would like to become accustomed has puzzled and embittered many persons.

One school administrator recently said he had it all figured out, for his district, at least. It was the old folks.

He said that standing near the polls on election day, he noticed that a high proportion of the voters were older persons, retired and not active otherwise in the community.

These people, he figured, generally live in small houses, on fixed incomes, in a community which is changing quickly around them in ways they don't like.

These people also, he added, have no children of their own living in the area. Other people's children are just nuisances who make noise and trample flowers.

SUCH A CONCLUSION about elections ignores such factors as the sentiments expressed statewide about education in the election of Max Rafferty, also that many other local governments have had to economize much more than the schools.

Still, there may be a partial truth here. But the school administrator never has taken the obvious next step of trying to figure out a solution to his problem.

What are the schools doing for the persons who are footing the bill? Just about nothing, directly. Kelvin Nelson, in charge of the county's park program, recently told the San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission he felt the schools and churches had defaulted on their responsibilities to the aged.

Sure, the school buildings are usually made available to organized groups of senior citizens, and a janitor is paid to come and lock up.

BUT THERE IS no organized program, in this county, even in combination with recreation departments and districts, or the county, to make the schools important in the lives of older residents. Most of the school district in the county levy an extra nickel per $100 assessed valuation for community services, but the old folks see little of it.

Right now the senior citizen has little inclination to vote to add $40 a year or so to his tax bill when he gets nothing out of even the five cents which is supposed to be spent for the producer of tax funds.

But suppose a program were organized which would draw old people into the school buildings regularly, or at least nearby, as would be possible with combined programs with recreation organizations which worked with the aged.

If nothing else, there would be a good opportunity for school propaganda to be fed to these voters who are supposedly so recalcitrant.

BUT ANY PROGRAM with regularity could become tremendously important to these people. They would learn to depend upon having the cafeteria for their own use for a potluck supper once a week, and for use of the library for bridge club every Monday.

A danger might be that senior citizens would become so interested in schools they'd seek to promote bigger and better facilities. Then taxes might REALLY go up.

President's Rail Plan Should Stave Off Major Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's plan for solvin the railroad dispute—or at least postponing a showdown until after the 1964 election —should fry several kinds of fish, none of them to his disadvantage.

1. It should eliminate the dispute as an issue in the election campaign.

2. It should avoid getting labor in general mad at him.

3. It should take the railroad union leaders off the hook.

4. It should help the railroads begin saving money.

ALL THIS is conditioned on one thing: that the 11-man Interstae Commerce Commission act instead of stall.

Kennedy asked Congress to empower the ICC, for a two-year period, to hand down decisions in this railroad-union argument which already has dragged on for four years.

He also wants the ICC to have authority to get a federal court injunction to stop a railroad strike if the unions don't like its decisions. This should save the country from a withering shutdown until at least 1965.

THUS the railroad case wouldn't be an issue in the 1964 election. After that a re-elected Kennedy or his successor would have until 1965 to face the problem again, if there is still one by then.

The plan as Kennedy devised it may cost him the votes of some railroad workers next year, if they lose their jobs through ICC decisions, but organized labor as a whole wouldn't have much reason to be sore at him.

It might have been very sore if, instead of this plan, he had asked Congress to force a settlement by compelling railroads and unions to submit to compulsory arbitration, a device unions and management both detest.

THAT WOULD BE naked use of government power. Kennedy in his message to Congress Monday also expressed distaste for settling disputes through compulsory arbitration.

But the very plan he worked out, and the way he worked it out, is in effect compulsory arbitration although he didn't dress it with that name. He made it sound much milder.

This is why:

Since the ICC can hand down decisions, and can get a court injunction to prevent a strike if the unions resent the decisions, the result is that the unions will have to accept the ICC's findings. That's compulsory arbitration.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Gov. Earl Warren announced that "without attempting to decide the merits of reduced toll" on the Golden Gate Bridge, he would pocket veto Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy's bill to cut the 40-cent toll to a quarter. Warren felt bridge directors should decide.

Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich ruled that the state constitution stood in the way of a $55,000 "advance" from county treasury asked by Marin County Hospital District. The money was wanted to bridge over to next tax payments.

20 YEARS AGO

Construction was about to begin on 21 new war homes to be built in the Bret Harte Meadows subdivision on the southern side of San Rafael.

A grass fire for a time threatened upper reaches of Fairfax, Ross and San Anselmo after starting on Bald Hill but was brought under control after an 18-hour battle during which Marin Municipal Water District installations were also in jeopardy.

Mailman Was Good To Children

RULEVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A mailman who refused to disappoint children has retired after 39 years.

O. E. Ward often left a stick o fcandyo r chewing gum in the mail box for the little ones when there was no letter to take home. And when a Santa Claus package didn't arrive on time, Ward would check the post office on Christmas morning. If he found the package, he would deliver it on his holiday time.

Ruleville friends, who like his "beyond-the-call-of-duty efficiency," surprised him with a retirement party.

New Way Now To Kill Bugs

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — The newest wrinkle in household insecticides won't be in the nose. Entomologists at the Johnson's Wax Agricultural Experiment Station here say they have found a new way to kill bugs quickly without leaving a typical insecticide odor in the air.

They said the secret lies in a new aerosol formula that eliminates much of the odor from the insecticide carrier. This means actual effective ingredients can be masked easily with a light fragrance.

Paris Tourists Showing Drop

PARIS (AP) — The latest figures on foreign visitors to France indicate "a certain stagnation" in the tourist business, according to a report of the committee on tourism of the National Assembly.

The number of visitors increased only 3.3 per cent from 1960 to 1961, the report said, and preliminary figures showed a similar low growth rate from 1961 to 1962.

In addition, the report said, foreigners are tending to stay shorter periods in France, an average of about 2.5 days.

Oklahoma City Largest In U.S.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma City, already the largest in land area in the United States, added another 24.75 square miles inside its borders.

The state's capital city now is 644.735 square miles in size.

City officials believe the most recently annexed area probably will become one of the fastest growing industrial sections in Oklahoma.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

All Ulcers Can't Be Frozen, So Other Treatment Is Needed

VAN DELLEN

A year ago I devoted a column to the treatment of peptic ulcer with gastric freezing. The method takes 45 minutes and leads to immediate relief of pain. It also has been used to control intractable bleeding from the stomach and esophagus.

When chilled in this way, what happens to the lining membrane? It is not frozen, as the name of the procedure implies, but there is no doubt the temperature is reduced to near freezing levels. This suppresses the acid secreting glands and aspirating the stomach contents after freezing reveals no free hydrochloric acid. Digestion still goes on because enzymes are available in the digestive tract.

A SECOND or third treatment is given should pain recur. At least 90 per cent of those frozen have experienced relief of symptoms for three to six months after each treatment and there is reason to believe the ulcer has healed.

But what happens later? Reports are appearing on the pitfalls and failures that can be expected when a large number of ulcer victims are treated via this technique.

THIS THERAPY is not recommended when the ulcer is deep and about to perforate. The same can be said when the exit of the stomach is obstructed because of scarring brought on from years of ulceration. Now and then a segment of the lining sloughs off, suggesting it might have been injured by chilling or freezing. At present, the procedure is nothing more than another method of treating peptic ulcer.

Many ulcer sufferers respond as readily to diet, antacids, and drugs that depress the acid secreting glands and lessen the churning movements of the stomach. This is safer and easier. On the other hand, gastric freezing is worthwhile when ordinary measures fail. It is suggested also when bleeding occurs, especially when it fails to subside within a reasonable period.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SUN ALLERGY

M. A. writes: Is it possible for a person to be so allergic to utlraviolet rays she would have to stay indoors from May to October?

REPLY

No. There is no harm in going out after sundown or on rainy days. Some sensitive persons get by with sun screening lotions or salves and by wearing protective clothing, including a wide brimmed hat, long sleeves, and gloves.

DIABETES DIAGNOSIS

M. L. writes: Would taking tablets for diabetes do any harm to the body if it was decided that the disease was not present?

REPLY

No, but why was the diagnosis in question? There are simple tests to determine the presence of diabetes. When the diagnosis is borderline, the individual does not need treatment.

RIGID NECK

P. H. writes: Is stiffness of the neck one of the first signs of leukemia?

No, and we rarely associate this symptom with leukemia. Stiffness of the neck is more likely to come from sleeping in a draft, arthritis, or injury to the neck muscles. It occurs also as an early sign of meningitis and encephalitis.

GIRDLES

M. M. writes: The girls in our office have had a discussion on whether girdles are necessary. Some claim yes and others, no. What is your opinion?

Yes—to hold up the hose.

Today's Health Hint — Work off your tensions in a gymnasium, swimming pool, walking the dog, or in a game of golf.

Cairo Belly Dancers Told To Cover Up

CAIRO (UPI)—There's a new look at Egypt's famous belly-dancers and they're not very happy about it.

They've been ordered to cover up and to put a brake on their wiggles.

From now on, the fashion for belly-dancers is a one-piece affair that reaches from the collar bone to the kneecap.

The new dance-costume, ordered by Chief Censor Abdel-Rahim Sorour, "decently covers the chest, stomach and back," a directive said. The skirt "has no slits or openings, on the sides or elsewhere."

Sorour's creation was outlined in a circular issued to belly-dancers and night clubs defining "the limits within which the Oriental dance should be performed."

The circular opened with a detailed explanation of what the dance costume should not show. Then it tackled the dance itself. It said:

1. A dancer should not recline or stretch on the dance floor. If she wiggles, she should do it slowly. She should not fan out her legs 180 degrees on the dance floor. Nor should she "take positions or make movements which carry sexual implications."

2. A dancer should not perform on top of, or between, the tables. Dancing is strictly for the dance floor.

3. A dancer should not be photographed "in suggestive, intimate positions" with customers while she is dancing or while in her dance suit.

4. Musicians should not dance with or around the belly-dance.

5. A dancer should not perform to nationalist, military or religious music.

Belly-dancers are up in arms. "Why should they put more and more restrictions on us while foreign dancers can use any costumes and do whatever they like?" asked Wafaa Aly, temporarily a blonde.

Another dancer, Ahlam, said, "they're chasing the tourists away."

Economy-size Fairouz Amin said: "You can't make a dancer decent or indecent by imposing regulations." She hinted that belly-dancers will find detours around any new laws.

"Some famous old-time dancers would undoubtedly welcome these regulations," commented bosomy Sousou El-Sayyed. "They can no longer match the new generation. The new costume will enable them to cover their sagging forms."

94 Alligators Are Removed

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) — Alligator rusters have struck again despite a $1,000 reward posted for information leading to their arrest and conviction. Owner Owen Godwin has reported the third theft at Gatorland, tourist attraction on U.S. 441.

Thirty-three alligators, valued at $420, were taken in the last raid. Godwin has lost 94 gators in three raids. After each raid, blood spots were found outside the gator pens indicating that the reptiles were probably killed before being removed.

Chain Letters Now In Africa

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The pyramid or chain letter confidence game, long-known in Europe and America, has popped up in Africa.

Lagos police have warned that chain letters are circulating here by registered mail and labeled "confidential."

They request the recipient to mail money to the person at the top of a list of names, place his own name at the bottom and send the same letter to three others. It promises that cash will be mailed to him when, and if, his name heads the list.

The population of India is 440,316,000.

Tiburon Peninsula Flora Now In 75-Page Booklet

The rare and local Tiburon plants which have long attracted California botanists have been catalogued and described in a 75-page booklet, "A Flora of the Tiburon Peninsula, Marin County" which has been printed in a limited edition by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society.

The botanical work, which has been prepared to provide a historical record of the Tiburon Peninsula flora being rapidly obliterated by suburban development, is available at the Landmark Shop, 13 Main Street, Tiburon, and may also be ordered by mail from addressing the society at P.O. Box 134, Belvedere-Tiburon.

Javier Penalosa did the research work supported by a grant from the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science awarded to him by the California Academy of Science and supervised by John Thomas Howell, curator of botany at the academy.

Included in the publication is information on geology and plant associations, numerical analysis, a map and photographs, some of which were taken by Anna-Jean Cole of Tiburon. There is an index and a list of donors who contributed to funds for the initial payment to buy the most unique section around Old St. Hilary's Church. The conservation project is still being promoted by the Landmarks Society which hopes to match funds with Marin County to acquire the area as a wildflower park.

The plant catalog is arranged by families with the flora identified by both botanical and common names, a description of the plant and where it can be found or was found before subdivision.

Advance sales have been to members of the Landmark Society and donors to the Wildflower Fund. Public sale of the remaining copies starts Aug. 1.

Tests Show Reed Children Ahead

With pardonable pride, the Reed School District this week is pointing to the results of last year's testing program. These results seem to indicate that the district children are brighter and learning more than the average pupil in the United States.

Third, Fifth and Eighth graders last year were given the California test of mental maturity, and the California achievement test which indicates how much the pupils have learned in reading vocabulary, reading comprehension, arithmetic reasoning, arithmetic fundamentals, mechanics of English, and spelling.

In mental maturity, 91 per cent of the Third graders and 82 per cent of the Fifth and Eighth graders scored above the national average. Fifty per cent of the Third graders and 34 per cent of the Fifth and Eighth graders scored in the top 10 percentile of the national norm, which is the equivalent of an I.Q. of 117-1.

Ninety per cent of the Third graders and 80 per cent of the Fifth graders scored above the national average on the achievement tests.

With exception of arithmetic fundamentals, between 46 per cent (mechanics of English and spelling) and 67 per cent (arithmetic reasoning) of the Third grade pupils were in the top 10 percentile of the national norm. Interestingly enough, only 12 per cent reached this score in arithmetic fundamentals. However, in this category 95 per cent were above the 50th percentile of the national norm.

Jack Usilton, principal of the Reed-Belvedere-Tiburon complex, explained that a new curriculum using such texts as the Scott-Foresman "Seeing Through ARITHMETIC" series has been used in the Reed district. He said this employs concepts and skills not included in the achievement tests.

In the Fifth grade scores in the top 10 percentile of the national norm range from 28 per cent (arithmetic fundamentals) to 54 per cent (reading comprehension). Above the 50th percentile the ranges are from 80 per cent (arithmetic reasoning) to 86 per cent (reading comprehension.)

By the Eighth grade the picture has slightly changed, with spelling on the bottom. In the top 10 percentile the range is 20 per cent (spelling) to 46 per cent (mechanics of English) and in the top 50 percentile the range is from 63 per cent (spelling) to 87 per cent (arithmetic reasoning).

Supt. Edward C. Pino said the tests tell the district how its overall program is working and are used by teachers as a guide to ability and achievement of each child.

Princess Anne Out Camping

LONDON (AP)—Princess Anne, 13-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II, is on a camping trip with her company of Girl Guides, Buckingham Palace announced yesterday.

There are about 20 girls in the First Buckingham Palace Co. of Britain's equivalent of the Girl Scouts. The girls come from all ranks of society, some of them daughters of palace employees.

A palace spokesman said the girls are camping somewhere in the five counties bordering London.

Man To Appear In Forging Case

AMill Valley truck driver was to appear in Municipal Court this afternoon following his admission yesterday to stealing a $50 check, forging a woman's name to it and cashing it at the Mill Valley market.

Harvey Buddy Monoogan, 31, of 7 Thomas Drive was arrested by Sgt. William Walsh yesterday morning, placed in county jail but then released on his own recognizance.

On June 16, according to Sergeant Walsh, Carolyn Nitzel found an expense account check was missing from her purse on her dresser at her home at 6 Barrie Way. She asked her employer, Lady's Fair, where she is a model, to stop payment on the check, but it had already been cashed.

Walsh said Earl Cummesky, identification expert at the sheriff's office, checked handwriting of several persons who had access to Miss Nitzel's house and matched the endorsement on the check with Monoogan's writing.

Parents Seek Unionization In West Marin

A majority of voting parents of students in West Marin schools have signed petitions asking for unionization of the districts in the area with four Sonoma County districts, the Marin County superintendent of schools reported yesterday.

Edwin L. Blackmore, coordinator of rural education, determined that 191 o fthe 266 eligible voters in the three Marin districts involved signed the petitions.

A total of 117 voting parents in the West Marin and Point Reyes districts signed petitions, and 74 signed from Tomales Bay elementary district. Eligible signers were 184 in West Marin-Point Reyes and 82 in Tomales Bay, Blackmore said.

If a majority of parents in the Sonoma County districts sign petitions, an election for unionization of the seven districts will probably be called for Oct. 15 by Marin Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis and Sonoma Supt. Deforest Hamilton.

Blackmore said Sonoma petitions have not yet been completed.

All districts involved are within Tomales High School District. Unionization would put the seven elementary districts under one administration while leaving the high school district in its present status.

No Tariff On Bubble Gum Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—Those in the bubble-gum set who prefer the imported stuff can relax. The Treasury isn't blowing the whistle on Canadian brands.

U.S. gum makers became alarmed at Canadian imports running to $400,000 annually—at a cent a ball, that's 40 million mouthsful. They accused Canada of dumping the inflatable stuff at unfair prices.

Not so, the Treasury ruled yesterday in refusing the request for tariff adjustments.

Revenue Drops, Net Income Up

OAKLAND (AP)—Pacific Intermountain Express reported today a drop in consolidated revenue for the second quarter of 1963, but an increase in net income over last year.

The revenue figure was 30.67 million dollars in 1963, compared with 30.71 million dollars during the same period in 1962. Consolidated net income for this year's second quarter was $910,319, an increase of $21,893 from the same time last year, the report said.

Cove Residential Plan Attracting Interest From Prospective Buyers

Congratulations to Associated Contractors of Palo Alto for their long and careful planning and preparation of the Cove over-water residential development on the Tiburon-Belvedere Highway. It is an excellent example of "best use" for this type of property and when completed should be an attractive leader for similar projects in the county.

Apparently it has aroused considerable interest among prospective Marin residents. More than 500 persons signed "want to see" forms at Associated's model display at the Furniture Fashions Exposition in San Francisco last May, asking to be notified when living units are ready for viewing. That event now appears to be scheduled for the latter part of August.

An architectural model of the development is currently on display at the Wells Fargo Bank in San Rafael.

GEORGE H. JOHNSON of Marinwod who is employed by the Graybar Electric Co., San Francisco, has been promoted from manager of contractor sales to the managership of the Oakland branch. He has been with the firm 14 years. His father Walter H. Johnson of Mill Valley retired a few years ago from the same company.

RICHARD B. KREUZER of Sleepy Hollow has been appointed a vice president of Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., nationwide advertising and public relations agency. He has 12 years with the company, with the last two as an assistant vice president and member of the San Francisco executive committee. His work in the field of graphic art has won numerous awards.

NEW MANAGER at Shamrock Motors' San Rafael location is Ray Moody who has recently moved from San Mateo. He is a long-experienced Dodge man, previously with the Dodge dealership in Stockton.

ANOTHER SHAMROCK STORY—slightly different from the one carried in this column last week—is that of Henry J. Ghilotti, former president and manager of Shamrock Materials, Inc., San Rafael.

"I'm not retiring," he declared. "I resigned. Emil Maggiora, John Velcich and I sold our stock back to the corporation. I'm taking a month vacation and then expect to return to some phase of the construction industry."

PETALUMA'S new Sierra National Bank in the process of organization will have Gene R. Ley of Corcoran as its executive manager. He has been manger of the First Western Bank in Corcoran and is moving to Petaluma to assist in final preparations for the new bank's opening.

CHARLES L. CONIGLIO of Novato, ranking 18th out of 7,500 New York Life agents in selling group insurance, has qualified to attend an educational conference in September at Yosemite National Park.

Western Union Asks Increase In Its Rates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Telegram rates should be raised in California to deal with a "critical financial condition," the Western Union Telegraph Co. has told the State Public Utilities Commission.

The company said yesterday that the new rates asked would put state charges in line with recently granted federal increases among states.

Western Union said it lost $738,828 in California in 1962, and that the proposed hikes still would mean a loss of $455,000.

Rate boosts asked:

Fifteen-word full-rate telegram—10 to 15 cents higher, depending on zones involved. Day letters, 50 words or fewer—10 to 20 cents more, depending on zones. Night letters, 50 words or fewer — five to 15 cents higher, depending on zones.

'Miss Wyoming' Named For Cody

BYRON, Wyo. (AP) — Cody Marie Neville, 18, newly chosen Miss Wyoming, was named after the statue of a famous westerner, Buffalo Bill Cody.

Mrs. Edwin Neville of Byron explained her daughter's unusual first name this way:

"When I was lying in the hospital at Cody, Wyo., waiting for my baby all I could see out the window was a statue of Buffalo Bill—so I decided to name my daughter Cody.

Against Death Row Penalty

By LOREN MacARTHUR

Carl Shapiro, whose clemency appeal to Gov. Edmund G. Brown recently saved condemned killer Clarence Ashley from death in the gas chamber at San Quentin, won't plead a murder case in court because he doesn't think he's good enough.

"Handling a murder trial is like handling a brain operation," said the Fairfax and San Francisco attorney, who a year and a half ago became a partner with Belvedere attorney Vincent Hallinan. "It takes delicacy, brilliance. I'd go to court on anything else; too much is at stake with murder.

"I can think of about only three attorneys in the Bay Area I'd want to defend my family if one of us were accused of murder."

His reluctance to plead murder cases has not prevented Shapiro from working with intense dedication, backstage and without pay, to help save four men and a women from death in the gas chamber.

The last of the five, Ashley, was convicted in May, 1963, of sexually attacking and killing 6-year-old Angie Mae Stewart near Mariposa. Shapiro took the case while Ashley was on Death Row.

"He was bright, but 'way out'," said Shapiro. "He spent one and a half years in Atascadero State Hospital after committing the crime. Then he was judged sane enough to stand trial.

"He not only felt he was better than any attorney; he thought he was better than God. He refused the assistance of counsel.

"He believed attorneys were part of the whole law enforcement system; they weren't independent of the taint of being part of the whole machine. He thought he didn't have a chance of breaking through."

Shapiro believes Ashley "had lots of reason to worry. Lawyers often are afraid of cases where there is high emotion in the community," he said.

Ashley's death sentence was commuted by the governor to life imprisonment without possibility of parole. "With competent counsel, he would have been found insane at the first trial," said Shapiro.

The attorney believes an "unjust" social system sends the poor to the gas chamber. "Capital punishment is only an extreme example of our outmoded system. Nobody is benefited by the death of these people."

Law, Shapiro believes, gives its practitioners one of the few chances "to attack social evils and do something about them."

Speaking of racial discrimination, he said: "The question of Marin County or San Francisco or Birmingham is a question of getting equal treatment. It has to be done primarily through the courts. Any lawyer should be available to accept any one of these cases.

"There is more discrimination in Marin than in any other part of the state, but it's not a legal problem here. It becomes legal when you have a specific incident.

"There are eight high schools in the county and only one with Negroes; the young Negroes are limited to two schools in Sausalito. At this point, nobody has raised the legal question."

Shapiro, 47, took his law degree through night school study at the University of San Francisco while working days as a carpenter. "I did two years' graduate work at the University of California, one in law and one in public administration," said Shapiro, "but I wanted to be more productive. I left school and went to work as a carpenter. Then the war came, and I worked for a number of years as an iron worker in the shipyards in Sausalito."

His first contact with Death Row came some six years ago when a reporter asked him to intercede for Michael Cavanaugh, convicted, said Shapiro, "for a weird sort of murder near San Diego.

"He went to the gas chamber. It was a most devastating experience. It affected my entire family."

A year later, Shapiro went to court to defend Frances Kersh, charged with killing her husband. Despite the fact she escaped the gas chamber, was committed to a mental hospital, and after four years of "intensive psychotherapy" is out "leading a productive life," Shapiro said he won't take another murder trial. "I've seen people in Death Row partly because they didn't have top legal defense," he said.

Shapiro went to the State Supreme Court in 1961 and won a reversal for Albert Love of Oroville, who was tried four times for the killing of his wife. The attorney worked with Hallinan to free Robert Lee Kidd, charged with killing a San Francisco antique dealer, and also helped save Robert Mason from the gas chamber.

Shapiro and his wife, Helen, live at 123 Scenic Avenue in Fairfax, where they have made their home for 22 years. A son, Toby, attends Sir Francis Drake High School; Joseph is a student at the University of California at Berkeley, and a daughter, Sylvia, is a student at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.

Bail Upped For Figure In Holdup

Marin County tightened its hold yesterday on Paul M. Meredith, accused of the holdup of a San Rafael loan office.

Meantime, it came to light that drafts stolen in the loan company holdup were for $2,000 each rather than $1,000 as previously reported by Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, making the total loot $6,275.

In Marin municipal court, Judge Harold J. Haley increased bail from $1,575 to $8,000 after hearing that Sonoma County's district attorney may file a "Little Lindbergh Law" kidnaping charge against the airman, a count which carries the death penalty. The judge set tomorrow for a preliminary hearing.

Meredith, 23, stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, is accused of stealing a car and holding up the Household Finance Corp. in San Rafael. He also has been identified as the man who kidnaped 15-year-old Aleta Tufts from in front of her trailer home near Cotati.

Sonoma County has placed a hold on Meredith with bail set there at $52,500.

Common Mart Held Challenge To U.S.

KINGS POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—Navy Secretary Fred Korth said yesterday the European Common Market is presenting the United States with its greatest international trade challenge in history.

"A fragmented Europe has traditionally been the major outlet for our products," Korth said. "By 1970, our greatest customer may become our greatest competitor."

Korth was the main speaker at graduation ceremonies at the United States Merchant Marine Academy.

"The plight of our shipping industry has reached a point where the trend must turn upward," Korth said. "There are signs of necessary anxiety over the problems which beset our maritime service and a growing awareness for an adequate modern merchant fleet.

"During the past 10 years the volume of sea borne trade has doubled while the world tonnage of merchant ships to handle this growth expanded only about 65 per cent."

Korth also told the graduates, who will be commissioned in the U.S. Naval Reserve, of plans to revitalize the naval reserve merchant marine program.

"As one of the first steps toward revitalizing the present naval reserve merchant program we are studying the possibility of providing annual training duty in navy ships for merchant marine officers who hold naval reserve commissions," he said.

"The plan also includes opportunity for extended periods of active duty and integration into the regular navy contingent upon the needs of the naval service and statutory personnel limitations."
